

as is done in New York up to a certain limitation. But it was pointed out this would be in conflict with the provision in the Illinois constitution that taxation shall be uniform.

Vast Power for Tenant.

One point which was not brought out in the discussion, but which was advanced quite generally among legislators and others who are opposed to the bill, deals with the leverage a rent regulator would give to an unscrupulous tenant over a reasonable landlord. In kicking the "rent hogs" and "gougers," they argue, the bill would crumple honest landlords. In aiming at the speculators and others who are taking advantage of short supply and big demand, the measure, they say, would intrude upon the property rights of the well established owner. The provisions, too, that the commission shall prescribe forms of leases they hold to be an unprecedented invasion of the right of private contract.

Denies Bill Is Remedy.

"You can't repeal or amend the natural law of supply and demand," continued McKinley. "Give the tenants all the relief you can, but this is not the remedy. Let the old law of supply and demand work. I see signs of building about to resume. This bill is popular; it follows a popular cry for relief; it seems to be a popular move, but it is spurious, and the reaction will be to let the old law work. The tenants would be in a far worse plight than now."

Deny's Fires Query at Schlake.

Senator John T. Denver bobbed up. "Let me ask Mr. Schlake," he said, "what he would suggest to stimulate building?"

"We have suggested labor take a reduction in wage," said Mr. Schlake. "Costs must come down. The material man cannot sell below the cost of production, and with no demand overhead charges are fierce."

"If we can only start things moving we can cheapen production costs, and this would bring down material prices. Also it would open the way for the banker to make loans."

"The federal reserve made just the same mistake you gentlemen are making. It made a mistake of raising the discount rate last year to check inflation. That raised interest rates all over the country. Everybody suffered, just that speculation might be reduced. If the Federal Reserve bank would see its way clear to reduce its discount rate it would help prodigiously."

"How about reducing the price of bricks?" asked some one. Mr. Schlake is head of the Brick Manufacturers' association.

"I will reduce my brick 20 per cent if labor will come down 20 per cent," he replied. "I will meet any cut in labor with a corresponding cut in bricks."

Mr. Vette, first speaker, admitted there is "some profiteering," but said the cases were "comparatively few."

"If you can find a way to stop profiteering and put it down, go to it," he said. "I am for it."

"But I believe if any one wants to keep rents up, the best thing they could do is pass that bill. Chicago's population increases 75,000 a year. This bill will head off any resumption of building. The situation will get worse and worse. The bill will defeat its own purposes."

Mayor to Delay Action on Building Conference

Mayor Thompson indicated yesterday he will take no immediate action under the council resolution empowering him to appoint a committee to call a conference of builders and labor leaders in an effort to promote a building boom.

"The question of wages and prices will come up for adjustment between the builders and the tradesmen in a few weeks," he said. "In my opinion much more trouble may come of intervention by the city. There is too great a tendency to run the other fellow's business. I am a great believer in permitting the other fellow to run his own business."

Asserts He Has Proofs.

"That's the way it will work out," said Mr. Vette. "I have full proofs of how it works out in wages and elsewhere. There are signs of a resumption of building. For heaven's sake don't do anything to head it off. Suppose you were thinking of putting $40,000 into a new flat building."

"What would be the effect on you when you began to reflect that if an election comes along and a political party wants a few votes in the precinct where your building is? What is going to be the effect? You are not going to invest your money."

"Would you be for it if it exempted new buildings?" asked Senator Dalley. "No," said Mr. Vette. "For two reasons—first, it is wrong in principle, socialistic, communistic. Second, the effect in New York of exemption has been to obstruct building. If old rents are down new buildings will bring low rents. And that keeps them out. Office buildings are going up, but few apartments. Besides I think it is unconstitutional."

Isn't there some remedy?" asked Senator Dalley.

"Dalley Asks More Questions."

"Any remedy that will go after the profiteers and not after the innocent landlord," said Mr. Vette, "we would be for."

"But why socialistic?" queried Senator Dalley, blandly.

"The putting into the hands of the government the regulation of private property is socialistic," said Mr. Vette. He plunged into the operations of rent fixing in the District of Columbia.

"No, no," sang Dalley, sarcasm dripping from his tones, "a law passed by congress. Congress in action; so

MOBILIZING WOMEN VOTERS

SOME OF THOSE ACTIVE in the national league of Women Voters' campaign for 50,000 new members. Left to right—Mrs. Warren E. Price, Mrs. B. G. McKee, and Mrs. G. E. Niles.

CAMPAIGN to bring 50,000 new members into the Illinois League of Women Voters was begun yesterday. The movement is called "Better Citizenship Through Education," and it is hoped that, as a result of the drive, Illinois may report a banner membership at the annual convention of the national league in Cleveland April 11.

URGES TAX EXEMPTION

Local tax exemption for new buildings as the quickest means to bring about an end to the housing shortage and the high rent problems was advocated yesterday by Walter J. Greenbaum, loop banker. Mr. Greenbaum calls attention to the ordinance passed by the New York aldermen exempting new construction from city taxes and to the increase in building construction there in spite of rent laws.

"If new buildings erected in Chicago for human habitation are made tax exempt by ordinance for a period of several years," said Mr. Greenbaum, "I believe it will help to stimulate building, which is the only way rents can be reduced. The local tax should be levied only on the land and not on the improvements during the first few years."

A similar ordinance was recently passed in New York City and reports as to results so far are most favorable. The Tenants' Protective league and other organizations can be of great assistance in furthering such legislation and secure favorable action from our city council."

FLATS DON'T PAY, REALTY DEALER TELLS SENATORS

J. J. Carroll Cites Figures Showing Low Profit.

BY AL CHASE.

(Real Estate Editor Tribune.)

Springfield, Ill., March 22.—[Special.]—Do apartment buildings pay?

James J. Carroll, chairman of the rent division of the Chicago real estate board, a member of the real estate firm of John A. Carroll & Bro., took the stand before the public utilities committee of the senate this afternoon following Attorney J. L. Vette, and made public figures of the flat business.

The south side flat properties which seemed to answer the question with which he prefaced his talk with a loud and penetrating "No."

Mr. Carroll admitted it was only a crisis like the present that induced him to make public figures which he felt would injure the apartment house investment field. He declared operating costs had risen to a point where the investment return was so unattractive that prospective home buyers wouldn't consider cooperative buying—instead they promptly renewed their leases, even at advanced rates—and that practically every flat building and buying was by speculators.

Claims Dearth of Investors. "If apartment buildings were paying a large return there would be a deluge of investors," he said. "The fact that only speculators are buying is the best answer I know of to the statement that flats are paying big returns."

A gradual leveling of rents was predicted by Mr. Carroll as operating costs are lowered and there is more competition in the field.

"We only need a start in building and competition will do the rest," he said. "It will be the greatest factor in the world in making the landlord come down in his rents."

Some figures from the books of one of the big Chicago estates were given by Mr. Carroll and a net return shown on an investment of $65,000 which caused several senators to express astonishment. The properties included nine large flats, 149 small flats, 42 stores and 23 offices, all on the south side.

Operating Cost 60 Per Cent of Rental. "The percentage of operating cost on the gross rental in 1916 was 64 per cent; in 1917 it was 71 per cent, and in 1920 it was 60 per cent. The average for five years was 64 per cent. In a ten year period the annual net revenue reached 6 per cent at one time only. That was in 1913. It fell gradually until in 1917 it was below 3 per cent. In 1918 it was slightly above 3 per cent but in 1919 it fell below 3 per cent again."

"No depreciation has been allowed in arriving at these figures, although the government allows 3 per cent and one big life insurance company in loaning money on real estate formerly figured it at 5 per cent. The annual net revenue for this estate during 1920 probably was around 2 per cent if no depreciation were allowed."

Mr. Carroll stated that the average gross rental of this estate which rented at from $30 to $50 in 1916 was now at from $55 to $70.

Profiteering a "Local Matter." In making his reply to the second question with which he prefaced his remarks—is there real rent profiteering?—Mr. Carroll declared that although he had heard of a good many fraudulent cases, it was largely a local matter.

"About one-twentieth of one per cent of our city are complaining," he said. "It is not the working man who is objecting to rent increases, it's the well to do citizens, as a rule, but it's the large middle classes who suffer the most."

The most abuses have been where owners handle the renting of their properties. Where agents have handled the business there hasn't been so much profiteering. We have refused to handle properties where the owner was exorbitant."

PERSIAN FATHER WITH U. S. NAME PROUD OF HIS GIRL TWINS

The Persian twins are doing very well, thank you.

"This makes six," said John Peters, the father, yesterday, as he proudly surveyed the sleeping infants in their bed at Passavant Memorial hospital.

"I wouldn't trade one of them for all of Chicago," he added.

The twins are named Mary and Martha.

Their parents are of Persian birth, but are strong Americans and have taken the plain American name of Peters. They live at 631 North Wells street, where the twins will soon be at home to receive visitors. They are four days old.

POLAND MAY GET RICHEST AREA OF SILESIAN MINES

Allied Chief Outlines New Frontiers.

BULLETIN.

BERLIN, March 22.—The final vote in the plebiscite in Upper Silesia as announced today by the inter-allied commission is: Germany, 716,408; Poland, 471,406.

BY L. C. WALTER.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

OPPEL, March 22.—With more than 80 per cent of the votes cast in the Upper Silesian plebiscite reported to the inter-allied commission, Germany claims a majority of 250,000. At least 90 per cent of those registering voted. The ballots so far counted indicate that every large city in the region was carried by the Germans.

While Germany's large majority is concentrated in the Rosenberg, Kreuzburg, Namslau, Oppeln, and Neustadt districts, the French press is disappointed in the outcome of the Upper Silesian plebiscite, and sees a German-Bolshevik menace ahead.

PARIS.—Germany says in note to allies she is unable to meet the agreement extended today by Chancellor Fehrenbach and Foreign Minister Simons to those returning from the plebiscite zone. This is also the burden of editorials in the papers.

GERMAN JOY COOLING. BERLIN, March 22.—Sobored by the incompleteness of their victory in the plebiscite in Upper Silesia, the German government and press are beginning to assert vociferously that upper Silesia constitutes "an indissoluble national geographical and industrial unit." This was the keynote of the welcome extended today by Chancellor Fehrenbach and Foreign Minister Simons to those returning from the plebiscite zone. This is also the burden of editorials in the papers.

Under article 88 of the Versailles treaty, Gen. Lerond observed, it will be the result of the communes and groupings voting as units, and not the absolute majority of the ballots cast, that will contribute to determining the future Polish border.

An analysis made from Gen. Lerond's plebiscite returns indicates that the future frontier will be the Elbe or northward to Krappitz and then northeast, roughly, along the dividing line between Oppeln and Rosenberg on the north and Gross Strehlitz and Lusitza on the south.

Fully three-quarters of the population lives south and east of the tentative frontier, leaving barely 500,000 Silesians for Germany.

The allied plebiscite commission will finish its report in three weeks, when it will be submitted to the allies. In the meanwhile the opposing diplomats are struggling to win victory for their respective nations, the Poles claiming the iron and coal districts and the Germans insisting on the indivisibility of the plebiscite region.

PENNSY SERVES NOTICE IT MUST SLASH WAGES

'Only Way Out,' Rea Tells System's Workers.

In the midst of the railroad labor war, the Pennsylvania Railroad has served notice that it must slash wages. The notice, which is the first of its kind, is a direct challenge to the workers' demand for a 10 percent increase in wages.

The argument of the road is contained in a statement to the employees of the Pennsylvania Railroad from President William Rea. In it he shows that the company cannot get along under the present wage levels and he offers to give the men the hard facts in the case.

Here is his statement. Mr. Rea's statement follows: "To the Men Who Work for This Road—

"Every man on this railroad could tell you that the business of the country is in a state of depression. The demand for goods is less than it was a year ago. The result is that the railroad's business is less than it was a year ago.

"Only One Way Out." There is only one way left to keep the railroad from going bankrupt. It is to lower wages and wages. Under these circumstances as these it is necessary to ask your cooperation, and I am sure you will give it.

"I have been asked to send representatives to meet the general managers of the railroad to discuss what are just and reasonable wages in the light of present conditions. Committees are now at work comparing new schedules or rates with the old ones.

"I want to be open-minded. I want to ask of you one thing. I want you to be open-minded. I want you to be open-minded. I want you to be open-minded. I want you to be open-minded.

"The railroad is opposed to the new agreements because they make it impossible to operate the road for the interest of the public as well as the interest of the employees. One of the unfortunate features of the new situation is the fact that these new agreements make it impossible for us to retain the most efficient men and to pay them for the work they do and the energy, initiative, and loyalty they put into the job.

"We have succeeded in the past by working together with mutual good will and cooperation. In that way we can succeed now, and I am sure that I can continue to count on the spirit of fair play, common sense, and wholehearted service."

WALSH CHARGES PLOT Effort by Frank P. Walsh, labor attorney, to show that at least one Pennsylvania railroad official advocated "even deflation of wages" in connection with the wage reductions, marked yesterday before the railroad board.

A copy of a letter said to have been written by Mr. Walsh to the board of directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad, in which he charged that the railroad officials were plotting to reduce wages, was made public today.

The letter, which was dated March 18, 1921, was addressed to the board of directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and was signed by Frank P. Walsh, labor attorney.

Mr. Walsh charged that the railroad officials were plotting to reduce wages, and that they were doing so in order to "deflate" the wages of the workers.

He also charged that the railroad officials were plotting to "deflate" the wages of the workers, and that they were doing so in order to "deflate" the wages of the workers.

AUTO SHOOTING MYSTERY

PHOTO-DIAGRAM OF THE strange case of Walter Osmynski. With a bullet wound near his heart, the man was hurled from an automobile by three other men, while an astonished crowd at Michigan avenue and Forty-seventh street looked on. The automobile sped away. Osmynski refused to give the police any clue to his assailants. Later on another man was hurled from what is believed to have been the same auto. He too refused to throw light on the strange affair.

written by I. W. Geer of St. Louis, Mo., general manager of the southwestern region of the Pennsylvania Railroad, under date of March 16, 1921, was read by Mr. Walsh. The letter follows:

"To All Supervisory Employees: In compliance with the decision reached at meeting of all general superintendents in St. Louis on March 3, it is desired that you acquaint yourselves regarding this matter, reporting to the attitude of all employees relative to the proposed reduction in wages scheduled for some time during the month of April, 1921. It is desired that you ascertain fully as possible the feeling of the employees in regard to this matter, reporting to your superior the results of your investigations along with the source of same.

"In connection with this proposed investigation would advise that you use every available means to get this information, even resorting to defamation of all labor organizations if necessary.

"Trusting that this matter is fully understood by all concerned and that you expedite this matter, as the information desired is to be used in connection with the proposed reduction in wages, may call with the representatives of the employees."

The letter was introduced in connection with the cross-examination by Mr. Walsh of W. W. Atterbury, president of the St. Louis official, who, as the day before was the sole witness. Mr. Atterbury promptly questioned the authenticity of the letter. E. T. Whiter, chairman of the Association of Railroad Executives, after calling Mr. Geer by telephone, announced that the St. Louis official denied he ever wrote such a letter. Press dispatches quoting Mr. Geer reiterated this denial.

Brands Letter Fabrication. "That letter is a pure fabrication," he is reported to have said. "I never wrote such a letter in my life. The first knowledge I had of it was when I was told of it over the telephone from Chicago this afternoon. The letter is false in every detail."

The letter was withheld from the board's records pending introduction of evidence bearing on its authenticity. Mr. Walsh sought to show the alleged attack on unions was intended to destroy employees' allegiance to them, so that "when the wage conference was called, these men would not adhere to the union."

In connection with the railroad's general treatment of its employees, Atterbury Walsh charged that, prior to federal control, the Pennsylvania maintained a spy system. He said $800,000 had been spent on the road's police organization in 1914. While explaining that this amount covered all protective measures, Mr. Atterbury admitted a spy system was maintained "up to the time I left in 1917."

Atterbury Makes Charges. Mr. Atterbury also made "charges." One of these was that the unions were resorting to coercive measures in attempting to establish the closed shop. The witness read from a bulletin of the railway employees department of the American Federation of Labor, which stated that no shop craft employee not a member of the union could exercise his seniority rights.

"That is clearly an attempt to force the men into the unions," said Mr. Atterbury. "I am against the closed shop—either the closed union shop or closed nonunion shop."

Representatives of all the unskilled employees of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad refused to accept a reduction in wages.

MOSCOW URGES U. S. TO RESUME TRADE RELATIONS

Harding Refers Note to State Department.

Washington, D. C., March 22.—(Special.)—President Harding has received a direct appeal from the soviet regime at Moscow for a "resumption" of trade relations with Russia, and has referred the communication to the state department.

The text of the note was not made public, and high officials tonight refrained from commenting on the matter.

It is understood to be the desire of the soviet government to send a delegation to Washington to negotiate with the Harding administration a trade agreement with the United States government.

Note Was Anticipated. The direct appeal by the soviet government to President Harding did not come as any surprise. The signing last week at London of the Anglo-Russian trade agreement was confidently expected to be followed up with overtures of this sort to the new political administration in Washington.

Having failed in any way to shake the determination of the United States government prior to March 4, 1921, not to recognize or deal with the bolshevik regime in Russia, it was expected that the overtures that had been repulsed by Secretaries Lansing and Coby would be renewed at the first convenient opportunity after President Harding had come into power with another secretary of state in office.

Experts Frown on Plan. The best official economic experts have given their official opinion that it is quite useless to attempt to trade with Russia at the present time for the reason that it is impossible to develop trade of any real proportions with Russia on account of lack of products in Russia on which to base such trade and lack of credit facilities.

Premier Defends Pact. BY JOHN STEELE. [Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] (Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.) LONDON, March 22.—Speaking in the house of commons tonight on the Russian trade agreement, Prime Minister Lloyd George said: "Our agreement with the Reds is purely a trading agreement, recognizing the soviet government as the de facto government of Russia, which undoubtedly it is."

"No one who looks into the facts of the last two or three years can deny it. They have as complete control over the vast territory as any government could possibly have under the present conditions."

"This is not a treaty of peace. It is, however, the desire of the British government to clear up all questions and get a general settlement of all the outstanding difficulties throughout Europe and that part of Asia which still is under the control of the soviet."

Denies Opposition. The premier ridiculed the idea that British business men were opposed to the agreement. "So far as the government has been able, their views have been incorporated in the agreement," he said.

Mr. Lloyd George pointed out that every prediction that bolshevism was about to fall had failed, but added that Russia itself was changing from the wild, extravagant communism of a year or two ago.

"There have been speeches delivered quite recently by Lenin, the head of the soviet government, which might have been delivered by our colonial secretary," the premier continued.

Lenin's Views. "If Lenin had delivered such speeches at a trades union congress he would not have been allowed to finish. The things he has said about the desirability of interesting outside capital in Russia and inducing private capitalists with their enterprise and money to come to the country are remarkable."

"Lenin is beginning to realize that Russia has got to have trade. He thought he could run the state on the theories of Karl Marx, but instead he

RED GOLD FINDS WAY TO REACH WORLD MARKETS

Tons of Russ Bullion Minted in Sweden.

STOCKHOLM, March 22.—[By the Associated Press.]—Tons of gold are coming to Stockholm from Russia by way of Reval. In Stockholm the gold is melted, given the Swedish mint stamp, and thrown upon the markets of the world.

The understanding here is that the American state department has eliminated the necessity of a certificate showing the origin of the gold, which makes possible the admission of Russian shipments of the metal into the United States.

May Release Trade Deals. Russian and American firms in Stockholm already are hopeful that many American deals held up by the ban on Russian gold can now be negotiated.

The first shipment of gold of this type for America, amounting to seven tons, is reported to have gone forward Sunday on board the Swedish steamer Carlsholm. About ninety tons more are in Stockholm.

Some remaining stocks of the metal are rapidly being taken up by Americans at the rate of $664 per kilogram delivered in Washington, or 2,942 Swedish kroner at the present rate of exchange.

Bankers Take Big Profits. As most of the gold was bought by Swedish bankers, they are making large profits. The gold traffic, together with the curtailment of credits, has resulted in a decline in American exchange.

According to reliable reports, the bolshevik gold reserve totals only 175,000,000 gold rubles.

Injury Kills 'Dutch Henry'; Hotel Guard Is Arrested. Henry Baumann, known as "Dutch Henry," said to have been a Chicago business man by means at one time, was picked up by the police last night at the foot of the steps of the Vestibule hotel, 66 West Van Buren street. He died at the county hospital, where it was found his skull had been fractured.

He had been drinking, the police say. Charles McDonnell, a "bouncer" at the hotel, was arrested after the police heard he and Baumann had an argument.

Eggs, Butter, Cheese, and Coffee a Trifle Lower. Eggs are more plentiful this year than they have been for several years. The price is coming down. Chicago dealers yesterday asserted that within ten days the price might drop as low as 25 cents a dozen. Yesterday the wholesale market for fresh eggs in carload lots was 23 1/4 cents. At retail the price was between 30 and 31 cents.

Butter is slightly lower, between 45 1/2 cents and 46 cents a pound. Cheese dropped 1 to 2 cents under last week's quotations in the domestic grades. Coffee declined slightly.

The Wedding Invitation

Lack of quality in the paper, lack of skill in engraving, and lack of care in printing produce results which are disappointing and quickly discerned by the recipient.

RED RUSSIA'S TRADE DRIVE TAKES MIGHTY STEPS TOWARD GOAL

News dispatches in the last few days show graphically the rapid progress made by soviet Russia in the active campaign being waged for diplomatic and trade relations with the rest of the world. Following are some of Russia's red letter dates:

March 16—Trade agreement between Great Britain and the "Russian Social-ist Federal Soviet Republic" signed at London.

March 16—Signing of Russo-Turkish treaty in Moscow established "fraternal relations."

March 18—Russia and Germany complete trade agreement along the lines of the Anglo-Russian pact.

March 18—Russia, the Ukraine, and Poland sign a peace treaty.

March 19—The Italian foreign minister, Count Stora, tells the chamber of deputies in Rome that Italy will soon sign a trade treaty with soviet Russia.

March 19—The Japanese foreign minister, Viscount Uchida, says Russian agreements with European countries may necessitate a new Japanese policy toward Russia.

Found starvation and famine and his railways completely out of repair. "You can't patch up locomotives with Karl Marx doctrines. It is worth while making this experiment of a trade agreement in order to prove that this gentle process of instruction that has been going on has taught its lesson."

RESENT LONDON TREATY New York, March 22.—[Special.]—The executive committee of the All Russian constituent assembly in Paris has issued a statement declaring that "the Russian people will not consider themselves bound by the treaty concluded in their name by the Bolsheviki."

TODAY MAY SEE STRIKE AVERTED AT STOCKYARDS

Washington Conferees Near Agreement.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.] Washington, D. C., March 22.—(Special.)—Settlement of the labor dispute in the packing industry appeared to be well on the way to accomplishment tonight.

Although the strictest secrecy still surrounded the negotiations at the labor department, it would not be surprising if an agreement was announced tomorrow.

Basis of Probable Settlement. The probable basis of the agreement, if it is consummated tomorrow, according to the best information available tonight, will be as follows:

First, extension of the Alschuler arbitration arrangement for a period of six months or a year.

Second, continuation of the eight-hour day.

Third, acceptance on the part of the employees of the wage reduction already declared by the employers.

Optimism Supplants Pessimism. The controversy was brought before the cabinet at its meeting today with President Harding. Both the president and the cabinet were greatly encouraged by the report submitted by Secretary of Labor Davis, who reported "very pleasing progress" in the pending negotiations. Mr. Harding himself took an extremely optimistic view of the situation.

The pessimism of last night, when an apparently hopeless deadlock prevailed, gave way to optimism today after many more conferences. Early today Secretary Davis was closeted with Redmond Brennan and Dennis Lane, representing the employees.

Mr. Davis left this conference to attend the cabinet meeting. As he entered the White House, Mr. Davis told newspapermen he hoped for "good news" soon.

Following the cabinet meeting, Secretary Davis went back into session with J. Gregory Condon and Carl Meyer, attorneys for the packers. Later he held another session with Brennan and Lane. He repeated his desire that they refrain from talking for publication, and he himself refused to discuss the situation.

At the close of the last conference Secretary Davis announced that he would continue his meeting with the employees' representatives at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Morris Asks Investigation. Edward Morris, president of Morris & Co., issued a statement today, calling for a disinterested and non-political investigation of the packing industry to set at rest the agitation concerning it.

"I do not make this suggestion," Mr. Morris said, "in order to defer action or in the interest of time, because this industry is being seriously injured every day this needless and harmful agitation is prolonged."

This talk about the packers being stronger than the government, and threatening to monopolize the American table is merely propaganda to create a bitter prejudice against the packers and as a smoke screen to hide the real object of the parties back of the agitation—that of price fixing."

by Bertha Potter, her companion. The baby, Jay Leeds, was left behind in the care of friends at Miami Beach.

"I don't know where I will end up or where I am going," Mrs. Leeds said as she was packing her trunks.

Six days ago Capt. Wahwerit received a message from Mr. Stillman, saying:

"Will not return. Proceed north as soon as possible."

Murphy said the Modesty was one of the finest motor yachts ever built—125 feet long, 13 feet beam. Its decorations were supervised by "Mrs. Leeds." Murphy heard that the yacht cost Mr. Stillman $150,000.

Resignation Is Rejected.

Meanwhile, Wall Street expects to hear more of James A. Stillman's resignation from the presidency of the National City bank.

The resignation was tendered this afternoon, presumably as the result of the disclosures and publicity in connection with Mr. Stillman's suit for divorce, but it was immediately announced that the board of directors had "unanimously rejected" it.

Tonight, however, it was learned that at least twelve of the twenty-one members of the board of directors were not present and did not take part in the "unanimous rejection."

"Big Four" Is Absent.

A veil of secrecy was cast about the details of the directors' meeting, but it is known that the absentees included William Rockefeller, Percy Rockefeller, M. Taylor, J. M. Taylor, Henry A. C. Taylor, The Rockefellers were reported to be out of the city and Mr. Payne and Mr. Taylor are said to be ill.

Mr. Stillman, although he was in the bank, did not attend the meeting. Percy Rockefeller, active representative of the Rockefeller and Standard Oil interests in the bank; Mr. Stillman, Mr. Payne, and Mr. Taylor have been known as the "big four" of the directorate, because between them they are said to control the majority of the stock.

Although some of the officers of the bank professed to see in the refusal of the directors to accept his resignation a vindication of Mr. Stillman, others were more skeptical. It was considered unlikely in well informed financial circles that the proffer and refusal of Mr. Stillman's withdrawal would end the matter.

Basin for Offer to Resign.

That Mr. Stillman would resign had been repeatedly rumored and as often denied. He has maintained complete silence on this and all other points in the affair, but his divorce court charges connecting Mrs. Stillman with Fred Beauvais, the Indian guide co-respondent, and questioning the paternity of Guy Stillman, have received international publicity.

Similar offer to resign as officer of other banks, corporations, and many clubs, is not known. He succeeded his father, the late James A. Stillman Sr., as chairman of the board of directors of the bank April 2, 1918, being nominated by Frank A. Vanderlip, then president.

On June 4, 1919, Mr. Vanderlip resigned as president and Mr. Stillman was elected. He had been in the employ of the bank since his graduation from Harvard, rising to the position of assistant cashier in 1899.

The presidency of the National City bank is more an office of honor than otherwise. Actual administration of affairs is in the hands of an executive management board.

Just how many shares of bank stock Mr. Stillman holds is not stated. His father held 41,500 of the 250,000 shares, which were appraised at $14,507,876 two years ago, an average of $350. No other shares of bank stock are known to be held by him.

The Tie That Binds

Fifty Years of Love and Contentment Their Great Adventure

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Thomas as they were fifty years ago today.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas as they are today.

If you thirst for news, this story will disappoint you. There is no news in it. It is as old as creation.

Merely the story of a lad who loved a lass. Sweethearts. Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Thomas were married fifty years ago today, and so they will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. They live at 2017 West Congress street.

Their life together has been an adventure in contentment. They have lived each day as a cycle of blessings gratefully received. They have loved their children and been friendly with the neighbors. They have never sought to remold the world nearer to a fancied heart's desire. People like that don't get in the newspapers.

Mr. Thomas was postmaster at Toulon, Ill., during the Hayes, Garfield, and Arthur administrations, resigning in 1893 to practice dentistry in Chicago. He has been a reader of THE TRIBUNE for sixty years. He fought in the civil war. He and Mrs. Thomas were both born in Wyoming, Ill., where they were boy and girl sweethearts. They are still boy and girl sweethearts.

Open Hearing Starts Today.

Disclosures of Mr. Stillman's finances and his other personal affairs, particularly "Mrs. Leeds" and other women, are expected to be brought out in the court at White Plains tomorrow morning, when Mrs. Stillman's attorneys demand $10,000 a month alimony and $25,000 counsel fees. Mrs. Stillman is now getting $5,000 a month.

While Mrs. Stillman's lawyers are arguing a court order for increased alimony they will be on the alert for the attempt of Mr. Stillman's attorneys to introduce a letter Mrs. Stillman is alleged to have written to her husband offering him a basis for his divorce suit.

This mislive, penned three years ago from "Mondanne," the Stillman country estate in the Pequot Hills, is alleged to admit a single act of infidelity. It is also represented, by one who asserts he has read the original communication, as not being definite on the paternity of Guy Stillman, 28 months old.

case.

So far, it was authoritatively estab-

FAMOUS CANVAS STOLEN IN ITALY FOUND IN GOTHAM

New York, March 22.—The reported recovery in an obscure east side cafe of one of the most celebrated "Madonna and Child" panels from the brush of Fra Angelico, known to art fame as the "St. Francis," which was stolen in 1919 from the famous gallery in Bologna, Italy, has been brought to the attention of Signor Rolando Ricci, Italian ambassador to Washington, it was learned tonight.

Although the identity of the painting has not been conclusively established as the stolen "Old Master," several experts are said to have pronounced it to be the long lost treasure sought throughout the world.

All the facts bearing on the recovery of the masterpiece, he said, had been placed in the hands of the Italian ambassador, and without his permission details could not be made public.

WE'LL ALL WANT CELL IF M'KINLAY WINS HIS PLEA

Lake Front Jail and Roof Garden Urged.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

The county commissioners, except Good now and Maclean, inspected the county jail yesterday from attic to cellar and then unanimously expressed the opinion that the county urgently needs a new one.

"It's a disgrace," said President Ryan. "The conditions are miserable."

Commissioner Wilson. Others made like comment. Sheriff Peters, who led the inspection, said among other things to the commissioners:

"We have a jail half a century old, built to serve a population of a few hundred thousand, and now called upon to house the lawbreakers of a population of 2,000,000, a place already so crowded, so full of misery, so perfect a breeding place for crime that even the jail attendants inured to its deplorable condition become heart sick at the stench conditions."

McKinlay Favors Lake Front.

While the commissioners were of one mind in urging a new jail, McKinlay disagreed with the others on its location. He suggested that it be put over east, near the lake front. He said:

"I want all the light, air, and sunshine which can be given the unfortunate. They should have the lake breeze. Assume that only 10 per cent of those in jail will be found innocent, but then all have the air and sunshine, and a place to exercise—there might even be a roof garden for some inmates of the jail, if it is to be fifteen or twenty stories high."

"I'm not for a high class, fancy hotel, I'm for an up to date jail," replied President Ryan.

"I am for a modern jail, with all reasonable appointments," remarked Commissioner Buse, but he, Ryan, and the others said they favored the present location.

Suggest Bond Issue.

A large percentage of the commissioners suggested that a bond issue be submitted at the June election for judges. Commissioner Miller, however, wanted a definite plan with drawings before the question is submitted to the voters. Commissioner McKinlay suggested that all the various organizations and agencies interested in the subject be consulted in advance of any action.

A modern jail is one of the features of the plan for an institution to deal with all phases of crime which President Ryan suggested to the county board Monday. The commissioners made no inspection of the present Criminal court building nor of the third of a block adjoining, which the president suggested should be acquired by purchase or condemnation.

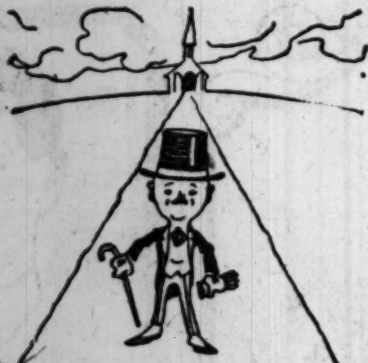

Commissioner Buse told his fellow commissioners that the city of Chicago owns the fee to a part of the site on which either the jail or Criminal court building is located, but that the county has obtained perpetual use of this property for county purposes.

That was one of his reasons for opposing a new site, but another commissioner suggested that because of this ownership the city could properly ask for space in the building for such of its offices as deal with crime.

Gen. Wood's Daughter and Wife Return from Europe

New York, March 22.—[Special.]—Miss Louise Wood, daughter of Gen. and Mrs. Leonard Wood, arrived in New York today on the liner La Saville with her mother. Miss Wood for several months has been working abroad for the American committee for devasted France.

Gen. Wood, who met his wife and daughter at the pier, said Miss Louise would go to Washington and he and Mrs. Wood would go to Chicago and then to the Philippines at the request of President Harding.

The road to Easter outfitting isn't nearly as crowded today as it will be later in the week.

OCCUPANTS OF HOUSEBOATS in the north branch of the Chicago river at Berteau avenue have been served notice they must move their floating homes elsewhere. Many of them are furnished with all modern conveniences of land homes and they are entering decided objections to being towed away.

POOLE CONTRASTS CHILD'S DIVIDENDS AND FOOD PORTIONS

ATTRACTED by the reported dividend of $4.61 a share in 1920 on the stock of the Childs company, investigators for Russell J. Poole, secretary of the council H. C. of L. committee, lunched yesterday at a Childs restaurant at 55 West Washington street.

"Press reports say the company's dividends have grown from $1.78 a share in 1915 to $4.61," Mr. Poole said. "I heard the Childs concern had announced a cut in prices. On top of that I received complaints concerning the size of food portions and prices in restaurants of this string."

"One investigator had a lunch costing $1.45, as follows: Roast veal and potatoes, 65 cents, consisting of 5 1/2 ounces veal and 3 ounces mashed potatoes; plate of vegetable soup 19 cents; lettuce and tomato salad, consisting of small tomato, three leaves of lettuce, 35 cents; two rolls weighing 1 1/2 ounces each, and chip of butter, 10 cents; apple dumpling in sauce, 25 cents."

"Another investigator's lunch cost 80 cents. He ordered breaded pork chops and potatoes, 45 cents, consisting of pork chop weighing 2 1/2 ounces and three ounces of potatoes and gravy; cup of coffee, 10 cents; small piece of pumpkin pie, 15 cents; rolls and butter, 10 cents."

"Mr. Poole, in a report to Ald. Adamowski, criticized the prices charged at Sally's Waffle shop, 4650 Sheridan road. An investigator paid 25 cents for a two ounce waffle and 15 cents for 5 1/2 ounces of French fried potatoes."

"These waffles were the same price when flour, lard, and all commodities cost more than twice as much as they do now," the report says.

"Practically all food commodities are as cheap now as before the war, yet prices are maintained almost at the same level. Hotels and restaurants owe it to the people as a patriotic duty to reduce their prices in conformity with wholesale price conditions as they are today."

JAIL SENTENCES AND FINES FOR FORTY PLUMBERS

New York, March 22.—Jail sentences and fines ranging from $250 to $4,500 were imposed here today on nearly two hundred fifty-two master plumbers and corporations indicted last December in connection with the building trust investigation on charges of violating the state anti-trust law.

They were arraigned on pleas of guilty shortly after a jury returned a verdict finding Charles A. Murphy, John A. Knight, and the Wells & Newton company guilty of the same charge. The heaviest jail sentence given was thirty days and the largest fine was imposed on the Hopkins Plumbing company. Several sentences were suspended.

SHELTON DENIES CHINESE BANDIT TALE WAS HOAX

Dr. A. L. Shelton, the Christian church missionary who was captured in southwest China by Chinese bandits in January, 1920, denounces as a lie an interview in a Cincinnati newspaper, in which he is made to say he was not kidnapped, but that the whole story of his adventure was a hoax.

Dr. Shelton was held a captive for two months in the mountains of Yunnan and after being rescued was accompanied out of the bandit country by Frederick Smith, a Tarazona correspondent in the far east, who was a member of the rescue party. The Chinese governor of Yunnan province later paid to Dr. Shelton several thousand dollars as partial compensation for the indignities and discomforts Dr. Shelton had suffered at the hands of the Yunnanese.

In a letter to Mr. Smith Dr. Shelton says he will return to western China next August and resume his missionary labors in the same district in which he was kidnapped away from the caravan which was bringing him and his wife and two daughters from the border of Tibet. Dr. Shelton is now in Pomona, Cal.

Wife of Cantor Weinberg Obtains Divorce in Ohio

Cincinnati, O., March 22.—[Special.]—A divorce was granted today to Rose Weinberg, 35, of Avondale, this city, from Joseph E. ### Negro Lynched After He Admits Attack on Woman

Monticello, Ark., March 22.—Phil Slater, a Negro, who confessed that he had attacked a white woman last week, was taken from the jail here and lynched tonight.

"I did it, but please give me a trial," he pleaded.

The mob hanged him to a telephone pole and riddled his body with bullets.

RENTS DON'T FRET BUT RIVER HOMES HAVE WOES, TOO

Houseboats on River Get Orders to Move Along.

Mrs. Charlotte Kuss is all upset. To soothe her troubled nerves she sits at home, strums her harp—the big, gilded concert one or the smaller Irish harp—and sings "Sailing Down the River" or "Where Do We Go from Here, Boys?"

"I declare to goodness!" she said, "I'm afraid even to go shopping for fear the sanitary district will move my home away. Just as likely as not I'll come back and find my home down near Lockport or nesting somewhere downstream under one of those horrid bridges. I've come to love this spot, for here, you see, we have all the modern conveniences."

Has All Modern Conveniences.

Mrs. Kuss pointed to a telephone pole from which the wires extend, linking her forty foot houseboat in the north branch of the river to the foot of Berteau avenue. She swept an arm toward a bin which clings to the steep bank and holds the family coal supply. She spoke feelingly of the faucet which the city permitted her to attach to the fire plug at the street's end.

"How do we know we shall be able to get these conveniences where they are going to take us?" she asked. "The neighbors have complained against any houseboats being here at all. Most of the houseboats have drifted down toward Grace street."

"The neighbors look down on us, I suppose they can't very well do otherwise, seeing that they're on top of the bank and we are down in the ditch. But we are not 'river rats.' That's what some of the children in the neighborhood call us."

Business Improvement Association.

"The River Park Improvement Association is behind the whole thing. The members are just mad because we don't have to pay any taxes. They claim our houseboats depreciate their property. Marshal Flanagan of the sanitary district told me yesterday he was coming today to tow us away."

Mrs. Kuss bent an anxious eye down-stream.

"He should be here now," she soliloquized.

A chugging sound drifted across the water. She rushed to the window again.

"It's only that old stone crusher starting up again," she said. "If he is coming I do wish he'd come and get it over with. I told him if he'd tie us up near some water and phone lines and such conveniences we wouldn't care so much. But he'll probably leave me stranded somewhere near a high bank that I'll have to climb with a ladder. Besides, I don't think he'd dare cut my phone line, do you?"

ROW ON LUMBER PRICE GETS DOWN TO FINE FIGURING

Claim Freight Rates Eat
Up Most of Boost.

The controversy between the Illinois Society of Architects and the Lumbermen's Association of Chicago on the question of how much lumber has increased in price in the last six years reached the figuring stage yesterday. N. C. Mather, president of the lumber association, declared the prices now are only 66.8 per cent higher than they were in 1914, and not 150.4 per cent higher, as charged by E. E. Davidson, president of the architects' association, and the lumberman presented figures to prove his contention.

"At the request of this organization five lumber companies of unquestioned standing and reputation have submitted figures of actual sales made in 1914 and those in March, 1921," his statement reads.

Gives Lumber Price Comparison.
Mr. Mather's table gives prices on seventeen sizes of lumber. The average of these prices is compiled, together with the percentage of increase of the selling prices of 1921 over those of 1914. For the purpose of condensation three sizes of the most commonly used lumber—are here presented.

Mr. Mather points out that since 1914 there have been freight advances from points of production to Chicago of 13 cents per hundredweight on yellow pine, which is the wood most generally used in building construction in this market and which is used in his tables.

"Most of Increase in Freight."
Figuring $5 per thousand feet for this advance and deducting this amount per board measure from each item of 1921 compilations, it is found that lumber has actually increased only 40 per cent, he declares. This table, like the former, gives seventeen prices on different sizes of lumber.

The table, given in part, illustrates:

Selling prices 1914.	Selling prices 1921.	Per cent increase 1921 over 1914.
2x4-20	$23.25	42.9
2x4-22	23.00	40.0
2x4-24	23.00	40.0
2x4-26	23.00	40.0
2x4-28	23.00	40.0
2x4-30	23.00	40.0
2x4-32	23.00	40.0
2x4-34	23.00	40.0
2x4-36	23.00	40.0
2x4-38	23.00	40.0
2x4-40	23.00	40.0
2x4-42	23.00	40.0
2x4-44	23.00	40.0
2x4-46	23.00	40.0
2x4-48	23.00	40.0
2x4-50	23.00	40.0
2x4-52	23.00	40.0
2x4-54	23.00	40.0
2x4-56	23.00	40.0
2x4-58	23.00	40.0
2x4-60	23.00	40.0
Average (17 prices)	$23.25	42.9

"The foregoing comparative tables must make clear to an unprejudiced mind the fact that lumber has advanced as great, and in most cases greater, declines than any other building material, and this being the case the lumber interests of the country are more than justified in their advice to 'Build a Home with Lumber Now.'" The statement concludes:

If Mr. Davidson's charges are true Mr. Mather will pay $1,000 to charity.

VOCAL HIMALAYA

Denver Girl Sings Highest Tone Yet Recorded.

LOU MILTON.

HIGHEST ATTAINED BY ROBERT MURRAY
Denver, Colo., March 22.—A Denver girl, 14, has been the subject of much discussion among musicians following a report that she is able to sing "easily" the second F above high C. Such a feat is unprecedented in musical history, and Denver enters the lists in the "high note" competition now agitating musical America. The girl is "Lou" Milton, daughter of a motion picture film exhibitor.

The highest note previously recorded was attained recently by 12-year-old Robert Murray of Tacoma, Wash., who reached the C one octave above high C. The note said to have been achieved by the Denver girl is five tones above that sounded by Robert Murray.

Miss Milton's voice, it is said, is not limited to this high, birdlike piping. She possesses a continuous range of four octaves.

It is predicted that if she retains her marvelous range until her maturity she will be numbered among the greatest of all vocalists.

The latter says, Mr. Davidson, who is ill with influenza, will give immediate consideration to the lumberman's challenge when he recovers, it is said.

BRITISH PREMIER PERPLEXED OVER CHANCELLORSHIP

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
LONDON, March 22.—Prime Minister Lloyd George is facing one of the most difficult problems of his administration in the appointment of a new chancellor of the exchequer to succeed Austen Chamberlain, who has become a Unionist leader in the house of commons, succeeding Andrew Bonar Law.

The chancellorship is the most important office in the British government next to the premiership and usually it is the stepping stone to the prime ministry. The two most prominent candidates are Sir Robert Horne, now president of the board of trade, and Sir Laming Worthington Evans, the war minister.

Both are financial experts and both have made good in minor offices, but both are younger politically than men usually selected for such an important post.

Mr. Horne is said to be the premier's favorite candidate, but more formidable still is Winston Churchill, colonial minister, who is in Egypt engaged, between intervals in his political work, in painting the pyramids.

Mr. Churchill is said to desire the chancellorship and to be planning hurrying home to secure it.

It is generally believed that there will be no appointment until after the Easter recess.

MANILA PLANS MEMORIAL TO DANIEL BURNHAM

MANILA, P. I., Feb. 15.—[The Associated Press.]—A monument to the work in the Philippine Islands of the late Daniel H. Burnham, Chicago architect, is to be erected in this city on the shore of Manila Bay, according to announcement made today by the secretary of the interior.

The monument will consist of a stone base, bronze plate and engraving, and a staff which will bear the American and Filipino flags.

Aside from perfecting plans for a number of parks and other public works in Manila, Mr. Burnham was responsible for the scheme of government buildings at Baguio, known as the "summer capital" of the Philippines.

AMERICANS FLEE BATUM AS REDS RECAPTURE CITY

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 21.—[By the Associated Press.]—Russian bolshevik forces have occupied the city of Batum.

Batum advises under date of March 20 stated that the Turkish Nationalist, who recently occupied Batum, had left that city and that a soviet Georgian government had been established there. The Turks, it was added, were shelling Batum, causing damage to property.

Twenty Americans Remain.
Washington, D. C., March 22.—As many of the Americans in Batum as wished to leave were taken away on American battleships before the city was occupied by the soviet forces, the state department was informed today.

About twenty Americans engaged in relief work chose to remain. The railroad between Batum and Tiflis has been cut, the department's advice said.

REVELL & CO.

The Revell Special
Double Day-Bed

This article is one of the latest pieces of furniture on the market.

It fills a long-felt want, and in our opinion is the most artistic, as well as practical, piece of furniture that was ever put on the market—giving extra sleeping accommodations and at the same time it is an ornament to the most elegantly furnished room.

This day-bed can be used in any room, in any part, against the wall or in the middle of the room, as it is finished the same on both sides.

The operation is the most simple; a slight turn upward revolves the seat, allowing the upholstery to go below, bringing the spring bed construction to the top. When open it makes a full sized bed.

The frame is of birch in the antique mahogany finish. Your choice of upholstery includes a selection of blue, mulberry or taupe velour, also tapestry.

CANAL DISPUTE OF ILLINOISANS NEARLY AT END

Chicago Board May Pay
Out $100,000,000.

BY E. O. PHILLIPS.

Springfield, Ill., March 22.—[Special.]—Chicago's sanitary district and the Illinois River valley people reached an agreement today over legislation that would permit the withdrawal of 12,000 acres from a second from Lake Michigan, rather than the 4,167 cubic feet of water permitted by the original act. This is the first move toward speedy settlement of differences between the federal government, the state of Illinois, the sanitary district and the city of Chicago, as to the quantity and quality of water and sewage to be sent down the drainage canal.

May Gain Federal O. K.
It is the foundation for a definite attempt to secure a law from the forthcoming extra session of congress that will permit the withdrawal of 12,000 acres from a second from Lake Michigan, rather than the 4,167 cubic feet of water permitted by the original act. William F. Mulvihill, attorney for the sanitary district, appeared before the house committee on waterways, speaking on behalf of the trustees of the district, five of whom were present. Taking the word of Mr. Mulvihill and stating that he presented to show what is happening, the valley people, through Representative Charles W. Loomis of Peoria and Hiram Todd, the organization of valley cities and counties, indicated readiness to agree to the plan.

For Far Reaching Project.
The house committee ordered a favorable report on the Brinkman bill, to authorize the sanitary district to negotiate with the war department and with the extra session of congress for the 12,000 cubic feet proposal and with the war department, based upon the district's agreement to build weirs and dams in Lake Erie and the St. Lawrence river, to maintain the lake level. The second Brinkman bill, that reduces the legal obstacle to the immediate construction of works by the district to reduce solids in the Chicago river, and thereby remove the chief objection of the Illinois valley residents to the development of the canal, was made a special order for two weeks today. This was done with the understanding that the bill then is to be taken up without objection. The state administration, through Superintendent of Waterways Sackett, gave its approval.

A third bill, that exempts the sanitary district from taxation, met with little opposition, brought on by Representative Arthur of Lemont and Representative McCabe of Lockport. The sanitary district pays more than $75,000 in taxes in Lockport township on the plant, butterfly dam, and even on excavated rock, which is taxed as personal property, it was argued. That bill went over for two weeks. Representative Thomas J. O'Grady's bill regarding a referendum vote on all taxes by the sanitary district also went over for two weeks without discussion.

Friction Fight Coming Up.
The first skirmish in the Chicago war or legislation comes tomorrow. When D. Hill, Charles E. Merriam, and others are to appear before the public utilities committee in

A Modern Rip Van Winkle—Act I.

THE OLD MAJESTIC BAR, 20 West Monroe street, now a candy store.

TEN Nights in a Barroom, or The Strange Adventures of R. I. P. Van Winkle. Synopsis: Mr. Van Winkle, a leading loophound, is in a telephone booth one chill night in March of 1814. While waiting for central to connect him with the wrong number he succumbs to profound slumber. He does not awaken until yesterday, March 22, 1921.

Central—I'm still ringing the number, sir.

Mr. V. W.—What number?

Central—Why, sir, the number you asked for, sir.

Mr. V. W.—I guess they're out. Give me back my nickel. I don't want a number now. I want a drink.

He fails to get the nickel and departs. He finds himself in front of the Majestic office building. He enters a door at 20 West Monroe street. In 1814 it was the Majestic bar. He walks to the counter, his eyes heavy from sleep, not noting anything in particular.

"Where's old Andy this morning?" he asks a white aproned youth.

"Who?"

"Andy Moynahan."

"I don't know him."

"You're a stranger, eh? Well, first I want a nice cool pewter mug of ale, and then a double size old-fashioned cocktail; you know, the 30 cent style."

"A what?"

"You must be a new barkeep. Here. Take a cube of sugar, bray it well with your pestle, add a lump of ice, a jigger of bourbon, stir it slip in a lemon peel and there you are."

"We don't serve whisky, sir, and we have no ale. But we have some snappy ginger ale and root beer."

"Listen. I've been patronizing this place ever since Frank Houseman started it. I knew him when he played second base with the Whittings. Don't try to razz me, see?"

"I'm not trying to razz you, sir. Here, let me show you."

He leads him outside, and gestures toward the windows, which are filled with bonbon boxes.

"Look, read the sign. This is now a soda fountain and confectionery."

Mr. Van Winkle reads the sign:

"C. N. Johnson's company, candy shop."

He faints.

WALL ST. BOMB ECHO IN ARREST OF FIVE SAILORS

Mystery Veils Prisoners in New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., March 22.—Held in separate cells in the parish prison tonight were five men who classified themselves as seamen but who, Capt. J. H. B. Van Weelden of the New York and Cuba line freighter Rushville said, and department of justice officials intimated, might be wanted in New York in connection with the investigation of the Wall street bomb plot of last Sept. 16.

Shackled hand and foot, the men were taken from the steamer Rushville today, hustled to prison, and booked under the following names: Philip Bender, Lionel Kuebrezoff, Rudolph Dorah, Hans Randin, and Henrik Lipan. They were then held incommunicado.

After Capt. Van Weelden had related the manner in which the men were captured and the difficulties encountered in moving from Rio de Janeiro to New Orleans, he, too, became uncommunicative. Department of justice officials said they were "awaiting instructions."

Heavy Guard for Men.
A long guard of policemen, deputies, and special officers kept spectators from the Rushville. Still wearing leg and arm irons, the prisoners were taken from the well deck of the vessel and led to a patrol wagon.

Late last month, according to Capt. Van Weelden, the United States shipping board steamship City of Alton, then nearing Rio de Janeiro, received a wireless message, presumably from officials of the United States government, requesting arrest of the five men. A fight started, and, according to the captain, it was with extreme difficulty that the men were subdued, placed in irons, and taken to Rio de Janeiro, where they were imprisoned.

Start Another Battle.
The American vice consul requested the Munson line steamer Yoro to take the quintet to New York. Still heavily guarded, the men were placed aboard, and in some manner started a furious fight. The Yoro's master then speedily returned them to the Rio de Janeiro.

About that time the Rushville came in to load coffee for New Orleans, and Vice Consul Thomas persuaded Capt. Van Weelden to attempt transportation of the prisoners. "We accepted and here they are," the skipper concluded.

Due to Mutiny, Flynn Says.
Washington, D. C., March 22.—Investigation of the five men landed in chains today at New Orleans from the freighter Rushville has as yet failed to uncover any evidence connecting them with the New York bomb explosion last September. It was stated tonight by William J. Flynn, chief of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice, Mr. Flynn added, however, that the investigation was being continued.

The men are charged specifically with mutiny on the high seas. Mr. Flynn explained, adding that they would be tried in the federal court of New York.

Silence in New York.
New York, March 22.—Strict silence was maintained by federal, county, and municipal officials here regarding the detention at New Orleans of five men, alleged to be wanted in connection with the Wall street bomb plot investigation.

According to shipping board files, the quintet tried to organize a "soviet" on the City of Alton after they sailed from here for South American ports last October. The revolution, alleged to have occurred in February, was put down by loyal members of the crew.

BLAST INQUIRIES HALTED; 2 MORE BODIES HUNTED

Pending the outcome of a search for the bodies of two watchmen believed to be buried in the ruins of the Armour Grain company's grain elevator, which was destroyed by an explosion Saturday night, investigations of the blast have been postponed.

"Until the bodies are found and the coroner's inquest is held, there is little we can do in the way of investigating," said Chief John C. McDonald, head of the city fire prevention bureau. "It is conceded the explosion resulted from an accumulation of grain dust or mill dust, but I don't think any accurate knowledge of just what happened will ever be obtained."

Fire Attorney Shirley H. High said his investigation had been postponed until some of the injured men are able to tell what happened prior to the explosion.

The government, it was learned, intends to make a thorough investigation of the explosion for scientific reasons.

WHOM THEY WOULD DESTROY.

Occasionally a contemporaneous event so rounds out into the complexities of life that as a current newspaper story it is drama, just as "Oedipus Tyrannus" would have been drama if it had had current development in a print of the time, with disclosures from sources within a guarded palace. The greatest of such contemporary dramas is the Stillman complexity. It lacks the violence of the Thaw case, but it has a much wider range of emotions and a profoundly deeper well of motivation. Stillman is revealed as a man slowly but inexorably obliterating himself under a cross pull of emotions which prevent him, in all the time he takes in pursuing a purpose, from ever taking the path in which he could survive and always throw him into the path with the quicksands.

His position was one common in possibility, whether common in event or not. He had formed connections with young women of the stage who were attracted by his great wealth, which he inherited and did not earn, who accepted him and partly protected him in the identity he assumed to conform to the needs of his reputable other identity, and who enjoyed the yachts, manors, rich apartments, jewels, and furs which he can provide. Men of wealth have done this before and have survived even in the vestry. Even where morals are mid-Victorian wealth can preserve a decorous gloss over quietly discussed irregularity. A life of lapses, however, does require its moral compensations.

The stern Puritan, confronted in the sacredness of his family relations with suspicion or proof of a wife's irregularity, might be relentless, uncompromising, even inhuman, and people might flinch from his sternness, but even if he drove out a son whose dubious parentage tormented his imagination and inflamed his jealousy, he would be unchallengeable. It might be a dismal thing to see such a Puritan grandee with every well of compassion dry and every well of bitterness overflowing, but he and his conscience would have the problem, and his conscience would be his only judge. Stillman was not a Puritan grandee. He is a man of American millions and Parisian habits, established in the reputation of finance, but taking the privileges of the seigneur. He was compromised not beyond extinction in an easy age, but beyond the assumption of moral aloofness from any culprit who, caught in the same net, might crawl out of it to his feet.

If it had not been the Nemesis of this drama that Stillman should be blind, his escapes from his dilemma were numerous. At the worst, he could have been an imperturbable figure in a much discussed case, that at the worst, there were better possibilities, a separation, with sufficient provision for the wife and the son whose existence maddened him. It could have been one of a hundred cases which modify but do not destroy life.

Stillman in some perversion avoided all the paths which were open, and went deliberately into the one which leads to effacement. He was exposed to retribution. His wife could say that he had a son who could not bear his name even as he had said that she had one who should not. Where he might have seen the warning, "Thither lies madness," that way he took, after reflection, after months in which composed thinking was possible. He casts the first stone, oblivious of the fact that for two thousand years the people of the breed which produced him have approved in their deepest conscience the story of the woman taken in sin who was brought before the Master to be judged.

If there had been an elder in that assemblage who, with a carpal past, had thrown a stone, his name would be now known widely as the name of Judas.

HOUSES AND TAXES.

The explanation of the building revival in New York City is given in the policy which has released from taxation for ten years homes upon which construction shall be begun before April 1, 1922. That extraordinary policy broke down the extraordinary condition. It was a virtual guaranty against construction losses. Even if labor and building materials recede considerably after April 1, 1922, the present-day builder has a tax benefit which will compensate.

The maximum exemption from taxation is $5,000, which restricts the benefit to the type of home sought by people of small means who have been the victims of rent extortion. It does not affect buildings offered for rental, and while it is desirable that people should be enticed out of flat buildings and into homes, it is inevitable that much of a strictly urban population will seek apartment buildings.

Until there is a stimulation in the building of apartments there will be retardation of the manner of life normally chosen by a great part of the citizenship. The New York law may relieve the pressure on the available flat buildings, but it does not increase the apartment housing facilities offered.

Flat buildings are investments and as investments suffer from competition with other forms of investment. It is suggested that building investments suffer from tax exempt securities and that much of it has been drawn from the building industry. Large investors and large estates sought tax exemption.

A six per cent taxable real estate bond or mortgage in some cases would yield only about 2 per cent. The suggestion is that even as New York encouraged home building by a limited exemption from taxation for a specified term of years, the federal government encourage building investment by a limited exemption of building bonds and mortgages.

The amount of limitation is to be considered with view to the government's tax requirements and with view to the minimum amount needed in construction. A revision of the taxation system was recommended by the Calder commission on reconstruction and production to permit limited tax exemption on real estate mortgages.

The stimulation of investment would be a stimulation of building which would do its great part in returning industry to normal and handling the question of nonemployment, consequent stagnation and distress.

The suggestion is for consideration and discussion. There are many people convinced that until communities return to building the economic life will be damaged and the social life impaired.

SUPPORT THE STATE UNIVERSITY.

This is not a fortunate time to ask for money from legislatures. With taxation a reality to a larger proportion of citizens than ever before in our history and a serious burden to industry, the paring of estimates and scaling down of appropriations have become the chief principle of political expediency. Economy has ceased to be a Cinderella.

Certainly economy is needed. But there is a true and a false economy. In the case of the petition of the state university for an appropriation of $10,000,000 for the coming two years, the legislature ought to be careful lest they follow the false principle instead of the true. It is not economy to starve the university as it has been starved for several years. It is waste. The pennies saved, the thousands saved, at the expense of the constructive work of this vital organ of the state, are not in fact saved.

It is not economy to let a costly and valuable piece of machinery go to decay for lack of proper care and cover. No business man, no farmer, no worker would consider it economy to refuse sufficient money for the proper upkeep of equipment, plant, and operation. That is the issue involved in the petition of the university now under consideration at Springfield.

The money income of the university has increased less than 11 per cent since 1912. The purchasing power of money in that time has fallen in the neighborhood of 50 per cent. This means that the actual income of the university has been drastically decreased.

Yet the student enrollment has increased 100 per cent.

In other words, with twice the work to do, its teaching alone, the university is expected to do its work, and do it well, with not much more than half the money.

Result: Instructors have been underpaid and overworked. Classes have been too large and ill provided with room. The teaching staff has lost men that have been taken by other institutions which would pay a fair compensation for their expert services and offer them a future.

The splendid research work of the Agricultural Experiment station, the Engineering Experiment station, and the graduate schools is not properly provided for, although it has brought and will bring millions more to the taxpayers and people of this state than they could ever be called upon to pay for its support.

In short, this great plant, which is so enriching the state in material and intellectual wealth, will certainly deteriorate seriously so that it will take years and very large sums of money to restore it to the plane it now occupies, unless an adequate sum is supplied to maintain it—to pay salaries which will justify expert men remaining in its service and to provide equipment and housing for the work they do.

This is an emergency which should be intelligently faced by the legislature. It is an issue of economy in the highest sense of the word, and short-sighted counsel should not prevail. Illinois university, which has a per capita appropriation of $38, as against one of $133 for Minnesota, $132 for Iowa, $114 for Wisconsin, and $106 for Michigan, deserves very treatment. Our state can afford to be as far-sighted and constructive as our neighbors.

It is not economy, but waste, to go on as we are doing. The investment which the state is asked to make is one which will return many times its sum, even in material terms.

True state pride and cool business judgment alike support the petition of the university for immediate relief and for adequate and, indeed, liberal support.

WHY TOLERATE THE CRIMINAL DEFECTIVE?

Another girl child, this time 7 years old, has fallen victim to a criminal degenerate. It happens often enough to bring about corrective legislation, and we hope such legislation will not be postponed. The problem of prevention is difficult. The problem of protection from those who have already demonstrated their nature is less so. There is no reason why society should put itself at the mercy of any one who has proved his unfitness to exist. It does not permit poisonous reptiles or dangerous animals to roam at large. The proved criminal degenerate is worse.

Neither is society called upon to feed and house him, or take the risk of his escape from control. He should be put out of existence.

The penalty for criminal assault in the first degree should be death.

DR. GUNSAULUS.

(New York Evening Post.)

Among the men who just before and after the World's Fair gave Chicago her place in American culture two ministers were prominent. They were Jenkin Lloyd Jones, the quiet, scholarly Welshman who organized All Souls church in 1883, and Dr. Frank Gunsaulus, who came to Plymouth church in 1887. The death of Dr. Gunsaulus, following upon that of Jenkin Lloyd Jones, removes an influence felt throughout the whole upper Mississippi valley. Dr. Gunsaulus was an orator whose powers recalled even Brooks and Beecher. Sunday after Sunday he would fill the Auditorium with crowds made up in part of visitors from every state of the northwest. His eloquence and learning made him a lecturer and occasional speaker who could not begin to meet the demands on his time. Like Dr. Washington Gladden and Jones, he was an apostle of social Christianity. Both he and Jones lectured at Chicago university. Jones headed the Tower Hill school and Gunsaulus for two decades was president of Armour Institute. Both were keenly interested in social settlements and civic improvement. Chicago with her suburb Evanston can claim to be one of the three greatest theological centers in America, but such men as Gunsaulus are not easily replaced.

THE WORDSMAN

He Invites Everybody to Read the Dictionary for Pleasure and Profit.

BY JOHN P. MILTON.

(Copyright, 1921: By John P. Milton.)

[Mr. Milton is a printer, who has been on The Tribune for years.]

YEARS ago a newspaper asked various learned men to reply to a question somewhat as follows: "Were it your fate to be condemned to solitary confinement for life, and it were stipulated that you be permitted to take with you one book only, what would be your choice?"

Most of these men chose the Bible. Some chose the works of various philosophers, ancient and modern. Others expressed a preference for books treating of sciences in which they were interested. One of the last to reply was a scholar of such preeminent attainments that his selection of a book that would satisfy the demands of a mind as great as his, and be a lifelong comfort to him in such a trial, struck my imagination so forcibly that from curiosity I immediately began to read the book he named, and in its reading I acquired much knowledge and was engagingly diverted the while.

His choice was an unabridged dictionary of the English language.

The wisdom which directed this scholar's decision has been impressed upon my mind by the great enjoyment derived from reading the dictionary through many years.

The reader probably will be skeptical of my professing to have relished the dictionary as a steady diet of reading. Some of my friends seemed to regard my choice of reading matter as an affectation. But we deride, fear, oppose, or avoid what we do not understand from contact, acquaintance, or examination; hence my friends' attitude. Could I have persuaded those who all but ridiculed my course of reading to procure a good dictionary and make a start, their interest, I am sure, would have been held to the end, greatly to their profit; for some of them were writers, literally dealers in words, whose stock in trade would have been greatly augmented and enriched by study of the dictionary.

It is told of Robert Louis Stevenson, probably the peer of any writer in the narrative form, that his chief diversion was reading the dictionary. Certain it is this habit had no bad effects on his readers, for how many persons do you know who have read Stevenson's books and were not highly entertained? His was a vocabulary of a scope seldom attained, according to a biographer who was his intimate friend, yet his genius for telling stories forbade its exhibition, a vanity which a writer of meaner abilities could not have foregone.

I was a youth when I acquired my first dictionary, just after receiving the first issue of H. W. S. "An unabridged" edition, fortunately. It came into our house as a premium for subscribing to a newspaper, and it came at a time when the family fortunes were low. I had urged my mother to buy a dictionary, but she had to deny it because of scarcity of funds. I then set about earning the money necessary to buy a dictionary by doing chores for neighbors after school hours. When the subscription solicitor appeared I had accumulated enough to subscribe to his paper, but only about one-tenth of the cost of the book in the store in town on which I had set my heart. I thought the solicitor offered a bargain. So he did; but his dictionary I found to be a poor thing. It was a dictionary that had received many impressions, and compared unfavorably with that book in the store. But I compromised, and my sharp young eyes did not recognize the handicap of the poor print in my eagerness to learn what secrets this wonder book held.

At first, of course, I was puzzled by many things, and pored over the pages for long days before I could read it understandingly. But from the first my interest was held fast, and each solution of a mystery as I haltingly made my way through it always had been among the last to be "spelled down" in the Friday "spelling bees." My scholarship report usually showed a contrast such as this: Spelling and grammar, 90; arithmetic, 20. This indicates the class of studies which interested me and for which I had a liking. Mathematics is a science for which I now have a great respect but as little affection as I had for "arithmetick" in school days.

Every one, I realize, does not have the flair for examining every word and phrase, getting a history of its origin, life, and connections, getting a mine. Many persons, however, I believe, would welcome an opportunity to become better acquainted with little known words and matters pertaining to the English language, and it is for the class that the dictionary is intended. There is a liberal education in the dictionary for all who would acquire it.

CHANCE FOR UNITED STATES ENTERPRISE IN BULGARIA

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

SOFIA, March 22.—American engineering aid promotion may look forward to a profitable field of cooperation in Bulgaria. The country is a big scale the rich water resources of the country by undertaking to construct large works. For this purpose, by order of the government, water investigations have been made all over the country by the water department in the ministry of agriculture and state properties. Results of these investigations show that the water resources of Bulgaria will make it possible:

- 1.—To exploit water energy of waterfalls with power amounts to more than 1,000,000 horsepower. According to calculations, railways and industries will consume only 130,150,000 horsepower and the whole of the remaining energy will therefore be available for agricultural production and the lighting of the towns and villages.
- 2.—To irrigate by canal system a surface of about 468,000 hectares.
- 3.—To irrigate independently by means of electrically driven pumps the vast Danubian plains and those of the Danube in northern Bulgaria which suffer from drought in the summer.
- 4.—To supply water for towns and cities, unable to obtain supplies from neighboring wells, by means of ground springs or streams, which are raised by electrical pumps to reservoirs and distributed by canals.

The works which will have to be taken in hand under the state water program will include:

- 1.—Construction of eighteen barrage reservoirs along the main rivers.
- 2.—Construction of an irrigative canal system in the plains of Plovdiv, St. Zagora, Jambol, and Silven in southern Bulgaria as well as the lower courses of the rivers Iskar, Vid, Ossem, etc. in the north.
- 3.—Building of electrical power stations at the barrage reservoirs.
- 4.—Constructing a general electric network to bind together all hydro and thermo electrical units that are contemplated.

The execution of these enterprises, according to the law for water syndicates, can be undertaken either by the state or by syndicates.

How to Keep Well.

BREAST FED BABIES HEALTHIER.

THE death rate among bottle fed babies is six times that of babies who are breast fed. This fact alone is enough to make mothers breast feed their babies. The difference in the trouble rate is represented by 6 to 1. Most of the sickness is among the bottle fed babies. They are most subject to diarrhoea, and a baby with a bad diarrhoea is a source of great trouble. They have most of the contagion. Babies at the breast have almost no measles, whooping cough, scarlet fever, or diphtheria. They seem almost incapable of catching these diseases.

Now that mothers know so much better how to care for their babies in hot babies who are the diarrhoea death rate is falling so rapidly, the importance of colds, coughs, and pneumonia among babies is coming to be recognized. It is said by some that the death rate of babies from pneumonia, bronchitis, and colds in the spring of 1920 was higher than that due to diarrhoea in the mid summer which followed. Breast fed babies are not very liable to catch cold. Breast fed babies are more subject to colic and colic is a trouble maker. But of all treatments for colic, weaning is at the bottom of the list. To wean a baby in order to cure him of colic is jumping from the frying pan into the fire.

In Minneapolis they reduced the baby death rate 22 per cent in ten years by a campaign, a prominent part of which was to persuade women to breast feed their babies. Practically every mother can breast feed. To do so she must see that the breasts are emptied completely and thoroughly at regular intervals. If the baby cannot empty the breast completely, the job should be completed by a borrowed baby or a breast pump.

Could I have persuaded those who all but ridiculed my course of reading to procure a good dictionary and make a start, their interest, I am sure, would have been held to the end, greatly to their profit; for some of them were writers, literally dealers in words, whose stock in trade would have been greatly augmented and enriched by study of the dictionary.

It is told of Robert Louis Stevenson, probably the peer of any writer in the narrative form, that his chief diversion was reading the dictionary. Certain it is this habit had no bad effects on his readers, for how many persons do you know who have read Stevenson's books and were not highly entertained? His was a vocabulary of a scope seldom attained, according to a biographer who was his intimate friend, yet his genius for telling stories forbade its exhibition, a vanity which a writer of meaner abilities could not have foregone.

I was a youth when I acquired my first dictionary, just after receiving the first issue of H. W. S. "An unabridged" edition, fortunately. It came into our house as a premium for subscribing to a newspaper, and it came at a time when the family fortunes were low. I had urged my mother to buy a dictionary, but she had to deny it because of scarcity of funds. I then set about earning the money necessary to buy a dictionary by doing chores for neighbors after school hours. When the subscription solicitor appeared I had accumulated enough to subscribe to his paper, but only about one-tenth of the cost of the book in the store in town on which I had set my heart. I thought the solicitor offered a bargain. So he did; but his dictionary I found to be a poor thing. It was a dictionary that had received many impressions, and compared unfavorably with that book in the store. But I compromised, and my sharp young eyes did not recognize the handicap of the poor print in my eagerness to learn what secrets this wonder book held.

At first, of course, I was puzzled by many things, and pored over the pages for long days before I could read it understandingly. But from the first my interest was held fast, and each solution of a mystery as I haltingly made my way through it always had been among the last to be "spelled down" in the Friday "spelling bees." My scholarship report usually showed a contrast such as this: Spelling and grammar, 90; arithmetic, 20. This indicates the class of studies which interested me and for which I had a liking. Mathematics is a science for which I now have a great respect but as little affection as I had for "arithmetick" in school days.

Every one, I realize, does not have the flair for examining every word and phrase, getting a history of its origin, life, and connections, getting a mine. Many persons, however, I believe, would welcome an opportunity to become better acquainted with little known words and matters pertaining to the English language, and it is for the class that the dictionary is intended. There is a liberal education in the dictionary for all who would acquire it.

'FIGGER' WIZARDS ROLL AVALANCHE ON DAYLIGHT FOES

Mathematically inclined persons with plenty of spare time objected yesterday to the suggestion that in switching over to daylight saving time Chicagoans stand a chance of losing 388.4 years of sleep.

They grabbed pencils and began to figure. Conceding the possibility of the loss of 2,701,705 hours of sleep unless the city's inhabitants hit the hay an hour earlier on Saturday night, statisticians presented pages of figures to prove that when Oct. 30 brings back "winter time" Chicago will be far ahead of the game, and here's how they figured it:

Daylight saving will be in effect for 365 days. That means 248 more daylight hours for each citizen, or 588,971 extra hours of sunlight for the city's 2,701,705 inhabitants.

In other words, the city has 73,621-

461 days—eight hours to a day—or 818,016 months or $8,168 extra years of sunlight in which to romp and play.

Just strolling along at two miles an hour our citizenry may walk 1,177,843, 389 miles in these extra hours of daylight. If they chose to walk a little faster, at three miles an hour, they will cover 1,766,915,070 miles and they have walked 79,676.6 times around the globe, or more than twelve and one-half times the distance to the sun, during the summer.

Or suppose they go quivering along at the rate of twenty miles an hour in their flippers during the extra hours. They will travel 11,779,433,800 miles. One sharp pencil had estimated that the combined force of the bumps in these miles would blow the world back to chaos.

But suppose Chicago elects to golf. Spending two hours to each eighteen holes, there would be time to play 5,300,745,210 holes. If, however, there is a woman foursome ahead, slowing up the game so that three hours are necessary for the circuit, only 3,533,830,140 holes may be played.

Finally if the individual Chicagoan prefers to mix up his recreations, he may play 600 holes of golf, walk 300 miles, and have eighteen hours left for swimming, tennis or gardening.

INVENTOR'S FIRST VACATION TO BE GLOBE GIRDLER

A. J. Bates, 5214 Kimbark avenue, inventor of the expanded steel truss, woven wire fence, and machinery to make it, and barbed wire fence, has been too busy during his fifty-eight years of life to take a "real vacation."

Now he is going to make up for lost time. Accompanied by his wife, he will leave this week for San Francisco and will sail April 2 on a trip around the world.

The couple expects to be gone nine months and will visit Japan,

China, and many of the European countries.

Mr. Bates, who is president of the Bates Expanded Steel Truss company, with a large plant at East Chicago, promised his four sons when he began to talk vacation that he would make a real rest out—

"I am going mostly for pleasure," he said yesterday, "but I expect to do a little business on the side. In fact, I've already got my eye on orders in Japan for around $1,000,000, and ought to pick up another half million in other places where they are planning electric power lines. Yes, I expect to have a fine time."

Mr. Bates will inspect the Italian plant, which his son Walter established at Savona, Italy, just after the world war ended, and will look over the preliminary engineering for a French plant.

$92,000 IS LOOT OF IOWA MAIL POUCH THIEVES

Centerville, Ia., March 22.—Postoffice officials here were reticent today regarding the loss of a registered mail pouch here Saturday night, but it was reported that approximately $92,000 in securities, cash, and jewelry were in the missing mail.

The amount of the loss was checked by reports from persons who said they had mailed registered securities and cash to Chicago Saturday in mail said to have been in the pouch.

The driver of the mail truck said he placed the mail against the door of the ticket agent's room in the depot as usual. The missing sack disappeared some time between 9:15 and 10 o'clock. The mail had been left at the station without guard, it is said.

WOMAN POINTS OUT MORRIS AS POLICE SLAYER

Girl, 16, Says He Cried: "Just Killed a Dick."

Women and girls, three still in their "teens," furnished the principal testimony against Eddie Morris, Eddie McBride, and John McEvilly when their trial for the murder of Policeman John Mullen was resumed before Judge Sullivan yesterday.

Failure of one of the witnesses to identify Morris, and a statement by Dr. William Burmeister, corner's physician, that Mullen was shot from in front instead of from the rear, staggered the prosecution. The lost ground, however, was made up in the afternoon when Mrs. John Ballash, wife of the owner of the Lincoln Gardens, was introduced as a surprise witness.

Mrs. Ballash positively identified Morris as the man who fired the shot that killed the policeman.

Tells How Policeman Died.
"I was standing in the passageway at the Lincoln Gardens," she said, "when I heard a commotion. I looked up as Policeman Mullen entered the room. I saw Morris draw his revolver, fire a shot and then run out. The whole affair was only a matter of a few seconds."

"Was McEvilly there?" Assistant State's Attorney William E. Stewart asked, after she had pointed out Morris.
"Yes, he was there."

Young Girl Testifies.
Victoria Scypior, a little factory girl of sixteen, testified she was in an automobile with McBride, when Morris rushed out of the Lincoln Gardens and shouted: "Step on the gas, I've just killed a dick."

"Morris swore he would blow my head off if I squealed," she said.

Genevieve Johnson, also 16 years old, told of two pistols lying on the floor of the automobile in which she had been riding with Morris and McBride.

Howat Calls Another of His Kansas Mine Strikes
Pittsburgh, Kas., March 22.—A strike of 150 coal miners called by Alexander M. Howat and his executive committee, in defiance of the Court of Industrial Relations and the injunction of Judge A. J. Curran of the Crawford county district court, began this morning. Howat now is under bond on two charges of contempt of court, in each of which a jail sentence was imposed. The first case was taken to the United States Supreme court and is pending there. The other awaits the decision in the first case.

La Follette Plans Trip to Study Erin's Problem
Madison, Wis., March 22.—Senator La Follette announced today that he contemplates a trip to Ireland for the purpose of studying the Irish question at close range. He said that several senators were planning to go and that he would reach a decision on the matter by the time that he returned to Washington.

HEAD OF CHRIST CARVED ON BEAN IN A DEATH CELL

New York, March 22.—[Special.]—The inside of a "Florida bean," about the size of a silver dollar, and probably a needle, were materials used to make the intricately fine head of Christ in 1895 by a prisoner sentenced to death in a Guatemala prison.

Mrs. Oliver Harriman, 142 East Fifty-fifth street, is exhibiting it to friends and trying to get a complete record of the carving. So far she has learned the prisoner left it for his family just before he was to be executed, "as my last message."

The bean is considered a talisman of luck. The family after fifteen years gave the bean to settle a debt over their home, about to be seized. Then the new owner years later gave it to the son of an old friend, Señor Navia, Cardinal Gibbons when he saw it. Harriman: "You have a treasure—one you should be proud of possessing. I have never seen anything so exquisite."

The carved bean may be exhibited at the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Gas Explosion in Georgia College Injures Forty-four

Atlanta, Ga., March 22.—An explosion of gas between the floors of the physiology building at Emory college here today wrecked the pharmacological department and seriously injured fourteen students and instructors. About thirty other members of the sophomore class in chemistry received minor hurts. All the injured will recover, it was stated.

ASKS ALLIES TO HAVE TURKEY REPAY YANKEES

Boston, Mass., March 22.—Claims for reparation for damage to American interests in Turkey were outlined today by Dr. James L. Barton, chairman of the near east relief committee, who has just returned from London, where he laid the claims before the conference of allied premiers.

Dr. Barton acted in behalf of American missionary, educational, and philanthropic organizations in the Turkish empire in presenting a brief urging the premiers to provide for adequate reimbursement for losses suffered.

The brief enumerates more than twenty-five chartered philanthropic corporations organized and financed by Americans in Turkey at an expense of more than $70,000,000.

Before prunes can earn the right to be branded SUNSWEET they must meet definite, prescribed standards of quality; on the tree, in process of curing, in packing and after packing. Nothing is overlooked; nothing is taken for granted. "It must be AAT—or it won't pass muster." That's the spirit back of Sunsweet.

And isn't there some satisfaction in that? Isn't it good to feel that, when you are served with Sunsweet Prunes, you are getting the finest prunes California can produce? Of course it is!

Even aside from that, don't forget that Sunsweet Prunes perform a very important office in your daily fare. Nature has made them a health fruit-food that you need for the good of your days!

Remember—Sunsweet is a mark of quality, not size. Large or small, the flavor of these top-quality prunes is the same. CALIFORNIA PRUNE & APRICOT GROWERS INC., SAN JOSE, CALIFORNIA • 10,000 GROWER-MEMBERS

SECOND T. R. FOR U. S. THAT PACKS MIGHTY PUNCH

Talks After the Colorado Is Launched.

Cum gratia, N. J., March 22.—The secondary battery Colorado, which will carry eight sixteen inch guns, was launched at the New York Shipbuilding corporation yard here today at 11:45 p. m. The ship was sponsored by Mrs. Max Melville of Denver, Colorado.

The Colorado when completed will have a full load displacement of 33,600 tons. The secondary battery will have two 16 inch rapid fire guns. With the three other ships of its class, the Maryland, already launched; the Washington and the West Virginia, yet to be launched, the Colorado is the most powerful type in the United States navy.

Warning from T. R.'s Son. During a luncheon that followed the launching, Assistant Secretary of the Navy Theodore Roosevelt said:

"We are up against a serious situation in this country. We must make up our minds to accept certain responsibilities and produce certain things."

"Most important among these responsibilities is the question of a navy. Many citizens are talking against the navy. They are urging on the administration a policy of disarmament. They are saying we must not build a larger navy."

"Perfectly Sincere Fools." "Some of these people are perfectly sincere pacifists and some of them are perfectly sincere fools. A fool and a pacifist are the same thing. Others of these good people are merely deluded. They have no conception of what a navy should be."

"What we need is the completion of the present naval program, entered on by the government in 1916. We must have a navy large enough to maintain the national honor and capable of protecting our interests and enforcing our national policies abroad. We must have a well balanced navy, not necessarily a larger one."

Nicholson for Great Navy. "I do not care what program England may have in building a navy," Senator Nicholson said. "I do not care what program Japan may have. I want a navy for this country that is adequate to protect our own country. I want a navy that will protect every American citizen, wherever he may be, in his lawful right to protection."

"I have no patience with the feeble minded people who talk about disarmament. I want a navy that is in keeping with the power and dignity of this great nation."

Urging completion of the 1916 building program, Representative Kelley said:

"When these sixteen powerful ships are added to those we have, in my judgment, the American navy will be second to none in the world. I do not know whether there will be a reduction of armament in the future. There never will be such a thing as disarmament."

Washington, D. C., March 22.—[Special.]—Although Maj. Gen. Hunter Liggett, commander of America's first army in the world war, was retired yesterday without attaining the permanent rank of lieutenant general, Secretary of War Weeks hopes that a way may yet be found to bestow this honor upon the American military commander.

"If I have my way about it," Secretary Weeks said, "Gen. Liggett will get the rank of lieutenant general, which he deserves. Why congress denied it to him I cannot understand."

"Gen. Liggett is the first officer of the United States army to command more than 1,000,000 men. He did it in the world war with marked success and with a demonstration of great ability as a military man."

Actual photograph of finished Royal Tailored suit

MADE-TO-MEASURE CLOTHES AT LESS THAN READY-MADE

"Why, Henry, that is the best looking suit you ever had on," said his wife.

"It feels fine. Fits every place. Has the best of finish," said the elated Henry.

"You probably paid an extravagant price for it," said his better half. "But it's worth it, to get such genuine satisfaction."

"That's the rich part of the transaction," spoke Henry. "This suit is equal to regular hundred dollar rich-man's-tailor stuff—but it cost me considerably less than half of that."

"The answer is that I went directly to the great ten-acre wholesale plant of The Royal Tailors and paid the maker's price—saving all retail and middlemen's overhead."

"It's a matter of common sense that the producer selling at his own shops can underquote any retail store—however large."

WOMAN ASSAILS CHICAGO; JUDGE FLIES TO DEFENSE

Divorce Applicant's Rap Stirs Pointed Retort.

Chicago was upheld as the "fairest city in the world" by Judge Sabath yesterday, during a divorce hearing in which Mrs. Louise Betty Hamilton testified she deserted her husband, Archibald M. Hamilton, an attorney, to get her children away from "this terrible town."

Mrs. Hamilton's suit for divorce, in which she charged cruelty, filed four months ago, was answered by a cross bill filed by her husband. He is counsel for the Straus & Schram Furniture company. His income, Mrs. Hamilton alleges, is $500 a month, and his bank account holds $75,000.

Couldn't Stand Our City.

"I simply had to get away from this city," said Mrs. Hamilton. "I left our home at 6233 Ellis avenue last September."

PICK MRS. E. I. CUDAHY TO HEAD CHICAGO'S IRISH AID CAMPAIGN

Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy, who yesterday accepted the chairmanship of the Chicago woman's committee of the American committee for relief in Ireland, will have complete charge of several hundred young women who will aid in the Irish campaign here, beginning April 4. The announcement of Mrs. Cudahy's acceptance of the post was made by D. F. Kelly, Chicago chairman, who at the same time told of the receipt of a telegram from New York announcing that Samuel Gompers had accepted the vice chairmanship in the American committee's national campaign for $10,240,000.

MRS. EDWARD A. CUDAHY. (Photo: Eugene Hutchinson.)

ber and went to Excelsior Springs, Mo. Her children, Gene, 9 years old, and Cecil, 6, are in the Missouri city now, she said.

"What's the matter with our city?" asked Judge Sabath.

"Everything," was the reply. "The apartments are abominable. The schools are even worse, and, as for the weather, I wouldn't think of letting the children stay in this miserable climate."

Then the Judge Lets Go.

The judge arose and let himself out. "Madam, don't you know education at authorities agree that Chicago has one of the finest school systems in the world?" he began. "Don't you know that we have some of the finest apartment buildings in the country?"

A person who becomes dissatisfied with this city is beyond my understanding. The climate is bad, you say. Why, every one knows that Chicago is an excellent health resort.

The husband declared he did not know his wife's whereabouts for two weeks after she left with the children. He denied her charges of cruelty.

Mrs. Hamilton agreed to bring the children back to Chicago. The hearing was continued indefinitely.

Harding Formally Calls Extra Session April 11

Washington, D. C., March 22.—A formal call for an extra session of congress, to meet on April 11 and receive legislative recommendations from the new administration, was issued today by President Harding.

AMERICAN LEGION NOTES

Theodore Roosevelt post No. 627 has launched a membership and service drive. Plans were perfected by Post Commander John G. Little Jr. for a campaign for $23,000 for the Illinois department of the American Legion, the fund to be used exclusively for the benefit of ex-service men in hospitals or out of employment.

Lincoln Park post No. 362 will hold a special meeting Thursday evening, March 24.

Woman Fast 55 Days, Reduces Weight 40 Lbs.

Hillsboro, Ill., March 22.—[Special.]—Mrs. Nettie Douglas, wife of Dr. W. W. Douglas, has just concluded a fifty-five day fast. Mrs. Douglas has undergone extended fasts on several different occasions to reduce her weight, but this is the longest. She fasted over forty days on one occasion before.

During her fast she abstained from food of all kinds, but drank freely of water, and during all the time has attended to her usual duties in society and in the home. She now appears in the best of health and the fast reduced her weight about forty pounds.

BRUNDAGE OPENS DRIVE AGAINST "CONSTABULARY"

Attorney General Brundage yesterday started a legal drive to strip the "state constabulary," declared to be an unofficial organization, of its police powers.

Numerous complaints have been received at the attorney general's office, it was stated in a hearing before Judge De Young, against what was termed the organization's "usurpation of power." The court granted permission to file a writ of quo warranto against the constabulary after testimony had been offered showing the body had violated the "nonprofit" terms under which it was incorporated.

The object for which the society was formed, it was stated, was for the apprehension of horse and automobile thieves, incendiaries and all other criminals operating in Illinois.

"From its inception the corporation has claimed the privilege of appointing special constables and arming them with revolvers," Assistant Attorney General Lister said. "These pseudo-detectives are authorized to go out and make arrests for all crime and misdemeanors under the laws of this state. In reality they have no such power."

More than 4,000 of these "special sleuths" have been appointed since the society was formed, the state authorities declare.

Famous Jersey Suits

Women's Sizes 36 to 46

$15.75

Misses' Sizes 14 to 18

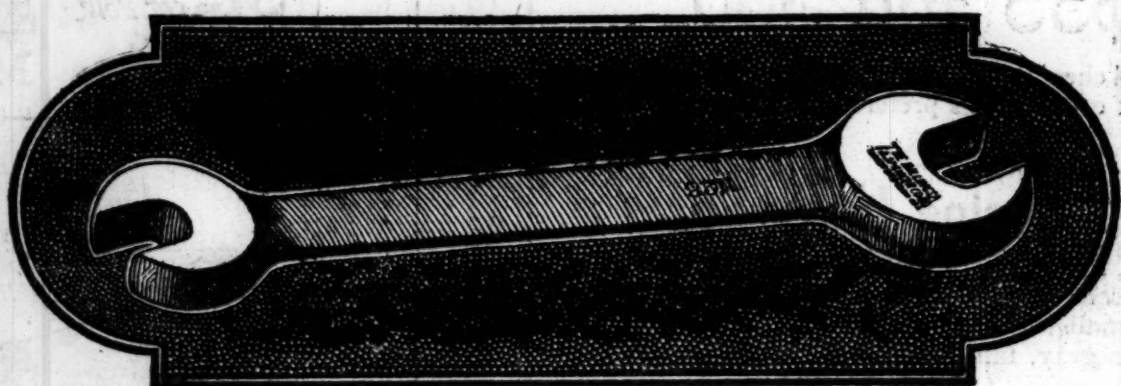

The most remarkable values ever offered—newest correct styles—select all wool materials—careful workmanship

DURING the past month the demand has exceeded the supply, but we are receiving new shipments daily and will be able to fill all orders in the near future. Most of the styles and colors can be secured now. The Suits are made of all-wool jersey—a soft, non-crushable fabric. The firm weave of the material insures against pulling, sagging or stretching, and the fine tailoring and finishing further insures their shape-retaining lines. Worsted Jersey Suits will not wrinkle—a decided advantage.

The colors are—Tan Heather Mixtures, Brown Heather Mixtures, Blue Heather Mixtures, Copen Heather Mixtures, Taupe Heather Mixtures. We have added Jersey Suits to our stocks in plain colors of Navy, Copen, Tan, Brown and Taupe, and are taking orders for them now.

They are the most practical suits for Traveling, Motoring, Golfing, Hiking, Business and General Wear. Don't fail to see our famous jersey suits at $15.75. Because of the high quality, all wool jersey, and excellent workmanship of the suits, they cannot be sold for less.

LEGAL SELLERS OF LIQUOR TO BE GIVEN MORE REIN

Kramer Makes Promise to Druggists.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., March 22.—[Special.]—Assurance that the bureau of internal revenue intends to eliminate restrictions in connection with prohibition enforcement which do an injustice to legitimate business, was given by Prohibition Commissioner John F. Kramer today at the concluding conference of committees of the American Drug Manufacturers' association and the American Association of Pharmaceutical Chemists.

Resolutions were adopted urging prohibition and to the enforcement of the narcotics law.

Mr. Kramer declared he realized that many hardships had been imposed upon legitimate business in the past and that in the future more attention would be given to revising regulations to meet the needs of legitimate manufacturers and dealers.

The more legitimate fellows we get out of business the more attention we can give to the men who are legitimately conducting their business," Mr. Kramer said.

Three sets of resolutions were adopted by the meeting: one suggesting changes in the prohibition enforcement regulations making possible the sale of alcoholic medicines, another referring to the narcotics law, and the last suggesting organizations of manufacturers, distributors, and dispensing pharmacists and physicians in the various communities to promote a better feeling and understanding between the professions.

Policeman William G. Fenn, personal chauffeur for Chief of Detectives Michael Hughes, is the strongest man in the Chicago police department. In physique he is the Apollo Belvedere. This was disclosed in the physical examination for sergeant.

Fenn's actual strength was not learned, because the apparatus used was not adequate for him. In the shoulder push, which consists in pressing together two knobs at either end of a steel spring, he registered 110 pounds, the maximum limit of the spring. In the back lift he had registered 690 pounds when the books holding the apparatus to the floor came loose. In the lung test he registered 330 pounds. The average is 210 pounds.

Fenn's policy is to "keep fit so I can deliver the goods when called on."

RESIGNATION OF RICHARDSON IS ACCEPTED BY U. S.

Dry Chief Drops Sponge
Upon March 31.

Prohibition Commissioner Kramer announced in Washington yesterday that the resignation of Frank D. Richardson of Chicago, dry chief for the central states, had been accepted and would become effective March 31.

Richardson several weeks ago announced his intention of handing his resignation to the commissioner while in Washington the last of this month. Subsequently he altered his plans and instead of going to the capitol made a trip to St. Louis on "official business." It was then rumored he would remain in office for several months.

Lawrence D. Kilbourne and Elliot Evans, his chief assistants, both professed ignorance of the situation yesterday. They said they had received no word on the matter either from Richardson or from Washington.

The official announcement of the termination of Richardson's regime closely followed the filing in the local courts of a cross bill in a divorce suit naming him as correspondent.

The divorce action was instituted last Saturday by Ralph A. Neger of the Cable Piano company. The cross bill alleged the dry chief "had visited cabarets and spooned in public parks" with Mrs. Pauline Neger of Oak Park. Prohibition officials said it was likely that one of Richardson's assistants—Evans or Kilbourne—would be appointed to fill his office temporarily after March 31.

Fire Wrecks Buildings of Winthrop Harbor Plant

Kenosha, Wis., March 22.—Fire destroyed several of the smaller buildings of the Municipal Engineering company plant at Winthrop Harbor, six miles south of Kenosha, this afternoon. Machinery stored in the buildings, valued at many thousands of dollars, was lost. Fire trucks from Kenosha, Waukegan, and Zion prevented the spread of the flames to the main building. The plant is a subsidiary of the J. F. Austin corporation of Chicago, manufacturers of trench digging machinery.

Harding Will Do Honor to Liberator of Venezuela

Washington, D. C., March 22.—President Harding today accepted an invitation to attend ceremonies April 19 at New York in connection with the unveiling of a statue to Simon Bolivar, the Venezuelan patriot. Acceptance of the invitation, which will take Mr. Harding out of Washington for the first time since his inauguration, and to New York for the first time since before his nomination for the presidency last June, was made known at the White House after Dr. Santos A. Dominiel, the Venezuelan minister, had called at the executive offices.

All Mothers Will Find Use For This Laxative

Give Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin to a constipated child and note its quick recovery.

In a growing family the subject of thought with the parents is how to keep the children healthy and happy, and what to do when they become ill. Most illnesses of childhood are the symptoms of constipation, such as headaches, coated tongues, flatulence, dizziness, loss of appetite and sleep, biliousness, etc.

You can surely feel safe in doing what tens of thousands of others do with good results, so give, according to the age of the child, a small quantity of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Eight million bottles were bought last year at drug stores. It is America's favorite family remedy for constipation, indigestion and similar ills, and is especially suitable for children, women and old folks as it is so mild and gentle in action.

There is no secret about Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a combination of Egyptian Senna and other simple laxative herbs with pepsin and pleasant tasting aromatics. Druggists have sold it for thirty years, and a sixty cent bottle will last for months. Experienced mothers are never without it in the house.

TRY IT FREE

Send me your name and address and I will send you a free trial bottle of my Syrup Pepsin. Address me Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 513 Washington Street, Monticello, Illinois. Every body now and then needs a laxative, and it is well to know the best. Write me today.

Mandel Brothers

Apparel floor—the fourth

A record "purchase" brings supreme values in 1,000 all-worsted jersey suits, 17.50
—15 women's and misses' styles

Jersey suits that, though extremely inexpensive, still evidence that superior, "individual" styling which makes "Mandel's for suits" the slogan of Chicago's fashion connoisseurs. For street, travel, outing, office and all-purpose wear, you will reckon one of these suits indispensable—and scarcely will miss the modest sum it costs. Eight models are sketched below—and the other seven are quite as fashionably picturesque.

Apparel floor—the fourth.

17.50

The suits display a host of delightful versions of vogue-vouchsafed features: Tuxedo shawl, and notch collars—some of brushed wool in contrasting colors, others of self-fabric; pinch-back models with belted pockets or patch pockets. The colors are so indicative of spring and in so wide a choice as to satisfy tastes the most discriminating and diverse:

Solid navy, brown and tan—besides copenhagen, oxford and heather mixtures

Jersey suits such as these have not sold for so low in seasons, and the thousand of them will scarcely suffice for this one day's selling. Prudent it were to shop in the morning in order to be assured of procuring the model and color that best become you.

Apparel floor—the fourth.

These suits are in a full range of sizes—14, 16, 18 for misses; 36 to 46 for women

NEW JAP PEACE SOCIETY SEEKS A FRIENDLY U. S.

TOKIO, March 22.—[By the Associated Press.]—Growing apprehension among the Japanese because of unfavorable criticism of Japan abroad is believed to have been the reason for the founding of the new international peace association here yesterday by 300 prominent Japanese, who included the foreign minister, Viscount Uchida, and Viscount Takakura Kato, leader of the Kensei-Kai, or opposition, party.

The principal object of the society was described by its spokesmen at the initial meeting as being to dispel misunderstanding of and prejudice against Japan in foreign lands and in Japan against other nationals.

Want a Friendly U. S. The imperative necessity of promoting a happier relationship between Japan and the United States and between Japan and China was especially pointed out, and to achieve these ends the association will send representatives abroad.

Viscount Kato and Takeshi Inokuni, leader of the Kokumin-To, or nationalist, party, complained that Japan had unjustly been accused of being aggressive and militaristic. Viscount Kato declared:

"All peoples have merits and faults, but we are judged by our faults alone."

Regrets "Misunderstanding." M. Inokuni said that he regretted that the defeat in the diet of the armament curtailment resolution introduced by former Minister of Justice Yukio Ozaki had caused a misunderstanding of Japan abroad. He declared he believed every member of the house of representatives favored the bill in principle, but differed on the ways and means it supported.

Prince Iyesato Tokugawa, president of the Pan-Pacific society, asserted the situation confronting Japan was due partly to the lack of popular diplomacy in Japan, which he declared must be based on truthfulness, frankness, and straightforwardness.

EAT YOUR WAY BACK TO HEALTH OH, YES YOU CAN

For Constipation Drugs Work By Irritation and Are Injurious

Cereal Meal Makes Existence Worth While to Constipation Sufferers.

An Ideal Health Food Working With and Not Against Nature.

A Package Costs Nothing Unless Satisfactory in Every Way.

Millions of constipation sufferers are trying to force nature by the use of pills, drugs and other artificial bowel stimulants. The use of drug-laxative, oils, salts and the like simply means an increased use of them because it is the habit of nature to develop resistance for any UNNATURAL thing that attacks her—which means increased dosage, more bowel irritation, more misery and intestinal exhaustion. You cannot take these UNNATURAL things into your stomach and expect NATURAL results. Cereal Meal is a wholesome, delicious, nutritious food that supplies certain missing elements to the food you are now eating, and nature does the rest. It is these "missing elements" that cause constipation. Purchase one package of Cereal Meal and eat a liberal dish of it for breakfast every day and the most pleasant and healthful surprise of your life will await you. Cereal Meal will bring on natural, thorough, complete bowel movements each day as regularly as the clock—not the FORCED, painful, vigor-sapping movements of drugs, but NATURAL movements of the kind nature intended for good health and freedom from the body-poisons that lay waste muscle and tissue and bring on more ill health than all other diseases combined.

"Your Cereal Meal certainly is fine. It has done wonders for me. We also had my sister at Winter, Iowa, try it. She says it is wonderful." J. S. C.

In no sense is Cereal Meal a "physic" or laxative. It works differently—works WITH instead of AGAINST nature. It contains no drugs—just a scientific blending of cereals and food products (part from across the seas) that supply exactly what nature needs to make your bowels perfect—as natural as at any period of life.

Today is the day you should purchase a package of Cereal Meal. Buy one package. If it fails to do all this article may lead you to believe; if it fails to give you perfect relief from constipation and its attendant evils; if it disappoints you as a food or in any other way, ask for your money paid for one package and you will receive it without argument. In other words, it is GUARANTEED.

Indigestion, headaches, dizziness, fatigue, hemorrhoids, general debility, chronic appendicitis, gastro-intestinal disorders and much nervousness usually are but secondary to constipation. Believe constipation by eating Cereal Meal and, in the vast majority of cases, these conditions will quickly disappear.

Allow Cereal Meal to take its place in your daily diet—then throw away your pill box and bottle of laxative and FORGET that you ever were constipated. Cereal Meal does not add to your expense—it subtracts. It will meet every demand made on you. There need not be a "physic-also" or constipated man, woman or child in the United States if Cereal Meal is regularly eaten.

If you reside in Chicago, purchase a package TODAY by calling or telephoning Sargent's drug store, 23 N. Wabash Ave.

If you reside out of Chicago and your dealer has no Cereal Meal, direct to the manufacturer, The American Health Food Corp., 148-B Tremont St., Denver, Colo., or receive interesting booklet on constipation, full particulars and prices.

BLUECOAT RISKS LIFE TO SAVE CHILDREN FROM RUNAWAY TEAM

POLICEMAN M. J. O'ROURKE.

Several children of the parochial school of St. Peter's Catholic church, Polk and Clark streets, were saved from probable injury or death yesterday, when Policeman Matthew J. O'Rourke stopped a runaway team of horses after being dragged thirty feet.

Groups of children were standing at Clark and Polk streets when the team was seen racing south in Clark street. Two pedestrians attempted to stop it, but failed.

O'Rourke just had time to clear the street of wagons and automobiles when the horses were a hundred feet from him. He grabbed the bridle of one of the horses, hung on, and succeeded in seizing the nostrils of the second horse.

His suit was torn and his shoes were ruined from being dragged on the pavement, but he stopped the team.

CLEARED OF ROBBERY CHARGE. Kenneth McFarlane, 2702 Flournoy street, was discharged when arraigned on a charge of robbery yesterday before Judge John F. Haas. Several weeks ago Dr. E. Curry and Dr. B. A. Ross were robbed in the office of Dr. Ross, 320 South State street. Dr. Curry identified McFarlane as the robber, but later decided he had made a mistake.

HEROISM OF 12 FIREMEN BARED TO MERIT BOARD

Twelve tales of heroism were recited before the city civil service commission yesterday by city firemen recommended by Fire Marshal Thomas O'Connor for the 1920 Carter H. Harrison bravery medal.

Allen V. Prunty, truck company 24, is said to have been given the commission's tentative O. K. for the medal, but President Charles E. Frazer said no official announcement of the board's findings would be made until a formal recommendation is made to the board of award, consisting of the mayor, city controller, and treasurer.

Lieut. Charles Schroeder of truck company No. 14, who rescued two men and a woman from a building filled with ammonia fumes on Oct. 14, 1920, is reported to be the commission's second choice.

Prunty's company was called to a fire at 1901 Beverly avenue on Dec. 8. He was informed a girl was in the building, which was filled with smoke. Putting on a smoke helmet, he searched for her until the oxygen in his supply tank was exhausted. Near suffocation, he broke a window for air and continued his search. He finally found the girl, overcame by smoke, and staggered to the street with her. An artificial respiration machine was necessary to revive both.

Others recommended by Chief O'Connor are John Dold, fireman H. & L. Co. No. 11; Matthew Lynch, fireman H. & L. Co. No. 30; William J. Flynn, fireman, engine company No. 90; John B. Lozeau, fireman, H. & L. Co. No. 24; John P. Stahl, chief of the Eighth battalion; Jeremiah J. Sheehan, captain, engine company No. 34.

from each 50¢ canister of "Caladero" Pumpkin Flour

—you can make 10 delicious, fresh Pumpkin Pies

And such pies! Every one a luscious, golden temptation—a glorious revival of good old days gone by.

With "CALADERO" PUMPKIN FLOUR you can now serve the most delicious fresh pumpkin pies you've ever eaten—whenver you want them—all the year 'round, at very economical cost, and without any of the trouble, muss and waste that formerly went with pumpkin pie making.

"CALADERO" PUMPKIN FLOUR is exactly the same as pumpkin fresh from the garden—minus the water. We take that out by our special "Caladero" process of dry heat dehydration, which allows none of the natural fresh pumpkin flavor or delicacy to escape. The result is a brand-new product—a rich golden flour—that now makes real, good old-fashioned pumpkin pie one of the easiest and simplest desserts to serve.

You won't believe how good it is until you try it. Better order a canister today.

NEW TAXES MAY BE IMPOSED TO SUPPLANT OLD

Will Seek a Way to Tap
"Wasted Income."

ARTICLE NO. 17.
(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Washington, D. C., March 22.—[Special.]—If congress repeals the most objectionable of the miscellaneous taxes, those on soda fountain drinks, medicinal articles, and trans-shipment, consideration will be given to the imposition of new consumption taxes. The substitution of the present revenue would mean that during the fiscal year 1922 more than $1,000,000,000 out of $4,000,000,000 total internal taxes would be raised from what are grouped roughly as consumption taxes. Repeal of the most objectionable of these taxes will mean a loss of about $350,000,000 in revenue. In the event that a general sales tax is not approved an effort probably will be made to find new consumption taxes which will produce about as much as those eliminated.

What will be sought are a few consumption taxes that will tap surplus income that is being wasted. There is no desire to have a multiplication of petty taxes upon every luxurious or unnecessary article. It is considered desirable to avoid absolute necessities of life on the theory that some individuals have little or no waste income to be tapped directly or indirectly. Such consumption taxes as are imposed must be justified by certainty of collection and productivity.

Booze and "Smokes" Suggested.
Representative Good, chairman of the house appropriations committee, has proposed an increase of the present tax of $2.20 per gallon on spirits withdrawn from bonded warehouses to $4.40 per gallon. This would add from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 in revenue. It has been suggested that additional taxes be imposed upon cigars and tobacco. A tax of 25 cents per 1,000 cigars, in addition to the present tax, would yield $5,000,000 additional; $2 per 1,000 cigars would yield $70,000,000 additional; 5 cents per pound on tobacco and snuff would yield $100,000,000. A protest against any increase in the tax has been made by the cigar-makers' international union on the ground that any increase in the tax would precipitate a crisis in the industry, the wage problem already being acute.

Tax on Sugar, Coffee, and Tea.
The national industrial conference board has recommended a sales tax of 2 cents per pound on sugar. This would yield $200,000,000. This organization also has proposed a tax of 2 cents per pound on coffee, which would yield $23,000,000, and a tax of 10 cents per pound on tea, yielding $10,000,000. These proposed taxes are not likely to meet with favor, since their application would mean an increase in the cost of living.

Another Tax on Autos.
A federal automobile license tax will receive consideration. It has been estimated that a tax of 50 cents per horse power on the use of automobiles would yield $100,000,000. It is also proposed that the present taxes on automobiles and trucks which are levied against the manufacturer be increased. An additional tax of 5 per cent so applied to automobiles and trucks would yield $100,000,000.

Otto H. Kahn, New York banker, has advocated a stamp tax on checks. He estimates that a tax of 2 cents on checks would yield $100,000,000. He suggested as an alternative, that progressive rates of from 1 to 5 cents, varying according to the amount of the check, might be applied.

Other Proposed Taxes.
Other taxes which are proposed are:

	Ad- diti- onal tax.	Yield.
Musical instruments.....	5%	$12,000,000
Chewing gum.....	7%	2,000,000
Candy.....	5%	20,000,000

G. O. P. IN HOUSE GETS DOWN TO TARIFF GRIND

Washington, D. C., March 22.—[Special.]—Republican members of the house ways and means committee settled down today to the actual drafting of a permanent tariff bill.

The first day's session was devoted to general discussion of a program and appointment of subcommittees. The decision to appoint subcommittees on the various schedules was a change in the original plan, Chairman Fordney having intended to have all the Republican members consider rates of duty on all commodities, appointing subcommittees only to work out various administrative provisions.

The subcommittees will begin work tomorrow and will work simultaneously in different parts of the large hearing room of the ways and means committee. Under this arrangement opportunity will be afforded for frequent consultation among all the Republican members.

84 Years of Confidence

When Peacock's asked me to handle their advertising, I accepted without hesitation, because I always feel the keenest satisfaction in writing the messages for a highclass firm.

When I have behind me a house that has always used its knowledge and resources to satisfy its patrons and is, therefore, entitled to public esteem and confidence, I am not compelled to use my imagination for effect. The effect is already there. The foundation is laid.

And so I feel in this instance. I have traded at Peacock's for years, hence personal experience is in a measure responsible. Because of their knowledge and taste, and my lack of both, I have left my selections to them. Most of my orders were given over the telephone. If I had a diamond ring or a watch to buy today, I'd order it over the telephone and merely give them the price I expected to pay. That's how confident I feel.

The general public knows so little about the intrinsic value of jewelry, and the thousand and one articles jewelers handle, that its selection of a place to buy is based entirely on confidence. The public must feel towards its jeweler precisely as it feels towards its banker. It must have a knowledge of his integrity or it simply can't trade.

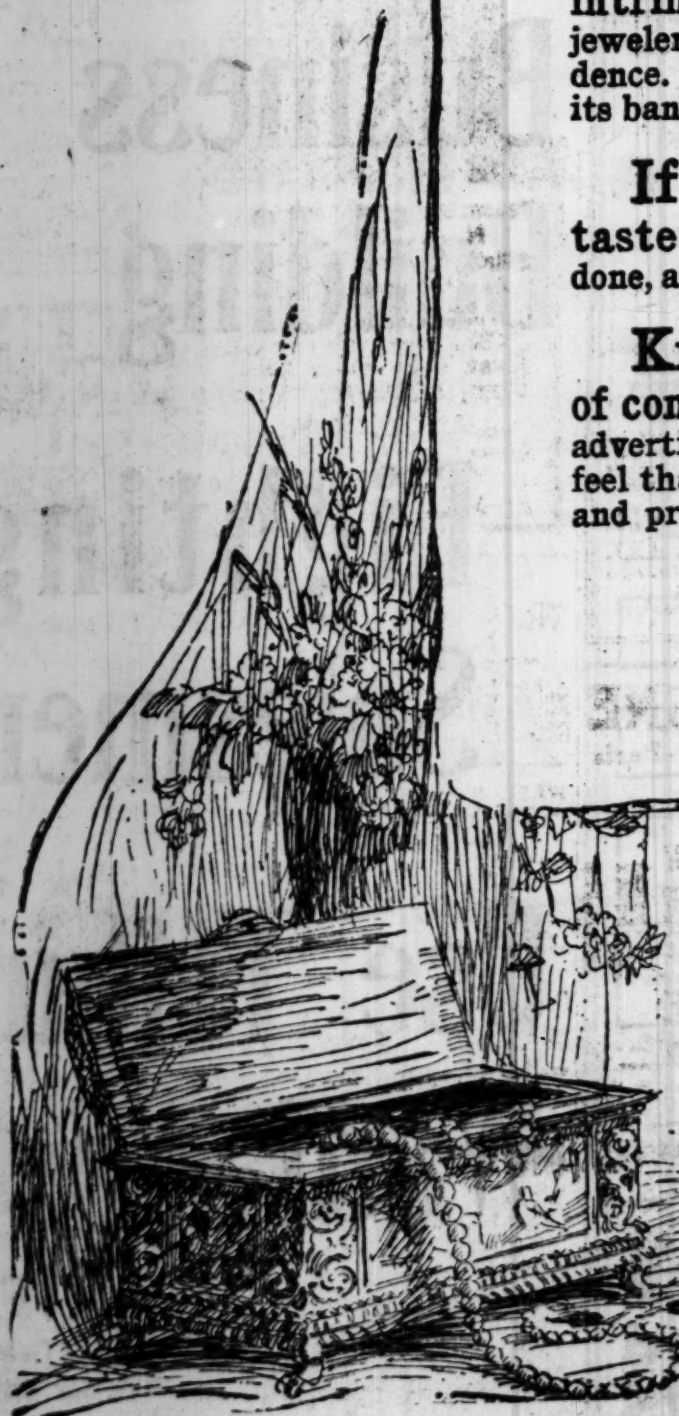

If you have confidence in your jeweler, his taste and his integrity, you may use the telephone as I have done, and your satisfaction will be as great as if you went to the store in person.

Knowing that the public would feel that sort of confidence in Peacock's, I did not hesitate to take their advertising. I have studied their stock, their styles and their prices and I feel that I am going to write many messages that will prove instructive and profitable. Watch these messages, as they appear from time to time.

DECKER ASSERTS 'DAGO JOHN' SLEW LEROY LOVETT

But Misses Death Date by Two Days.

Warsaw, Ind., March 22.—[Special.]—John Inavagnola ("Dago John"), a friend of the Decker family of Elkhart, was arrested there this afternoon in connection with the murder of Leroy Lovett.

The arrest followed a statement by Virgil Decker that "Dago John" "killed Lovett" and offered him $1,000 to dispose of the "body."

Previously Virgil Decker has declared, it is said by the sheriff, that he alone was to blame for Lovett's death.

Here's Latest Version.
This is how the authorities now say young Decker tells the story, assuming that Lovett was dead nearly two days before he actually was, for Lovett died in a hospital at Elkhart, Ind., on the Sunday following the Friday night on which Decker speaks of leaving the "body" in the cabin.

"On Friday, March 11," they quote Virgil Decker as saying, "John Inavagnola met me in the afternoon and asked me if I wanted to make some money. I told him I did." Decker then tells that he, "Dago John," and Lovett were in an auto that night, adding, "After we had gone a short distance south of Elkhart on the Nappanee road 'Dago John' told me to stop the machine a minute. I stopped and he got out and called Leroy Lovett, who also got out.

Calls "Dago John" Assailant.

"I followed them to the back of the machine, and just as I reached them Lovett sank to the ground with a groan. My God, he is dead. You have killed him," I said to 'Dago John.' I wanted to run, but John wouldn't let me."

Decker says that then "Dago John" proposed putting the "body" on a railroad track. He adds: "I didn't want to do it, but he offered me $1,000 to do the job and finally drove on. With Lovett's body in the back seat, I drove through Nappanee and finally at 4 o'clock Saturday morning I arrived at the little cabin on the Tippecanoe river near Atwood. I dragged the body out of the machine and into the woods and finally into the cabin, where I laid it on the couch."

Decker says he put his suit on Lovett and went home for another suit. He continues: "I left the body in the cabin all day Saturday and made a trip to Atwood so people there would see me and I could prove where I was during the day. That night I returned to the cottage with the buggy and drove to the railroad crossing, where I left the buggy on the track in front of a Pennsylvania train after unhitching the horse. I didn't leave the body in the buggy, but carried it about fifty feet from the crossing, where I laid it on the tracks."

W. J. B. Rises to Make a "Beg Your Pardon"

Miami, Fla., March 22.—William Jennings Bryan made it plain here today that he was speaking facetiously last night and in the past tense when he referred, as a E. W. C. A. banquet, to his presidential aspirations. Mr. Bryan was quoted as having said that with women voting he was sure of election. He explained today that he said "would have been" elected, instead of "would be."

Richard T. Crane Buys Historic Virginia Home

Richmond, Va., March 22.—[Special.]—Richard T. Crane of Chicago, American minister to Czechoslovakia, has bought Westover, historic home of William Byrd, founder of Richmond, located on the James river between this city and Jamestown. It was announced here today. The sale was made by Mrs. Charles Sears Harold Ramsay, who came into possession of the property in 1898. The price paid by Crane was not disclosed. It is understood that his family is planning to occupy it this coming summer.

$18,000,000 Airplane Parts Brought $10,000 at Buffalo?

Buffalo, N. Y., March 22.—[Special.]—It was declared in City court here today that the government after the war sold from its Curtiss airplane plant here to the Poll Eells Airplane and Motor corporation of Buffalo airplane bodies for as little as 80 cents and wings for 87 cents. It was said the company bought for $10,000 material that cost the government $18,000,000. The Buffalo firm's members are on trial on charges of conspiracy to defraud Hugo Echterling, a stockholder from Minneapolis.

$525,000 Reinberg Estate to Be Divided by Kin

Peter Reinberg, former president of the county board, left an estate valued at $525,000, according to his will, filed yesterday in the Probate court. Most of the estate was bequeathed to his widow and other relatives, including five sisters and a brother. The estate of George J. Kuebler, the attorney who plunged to his death from the tenth floor of the New York Life building last week, is valued at $2,500, according to a petition for letters of administration. Kuebler left no will, his son declared.

Be Inspired by These Fighting Salesmen of 1921

AT A CONVENTION of CHICAGO TRIBUNE advertising salesmen, held during the last few days of December, 1920, this slogan was adopted as the basis for work during the ensuing twelve months: 1921 Will Reward Fighters. It met with instant, national recognition. Hundreds of letters were received by THE TRIBUNE, pledging other organizations to battle under the same standard. THE TRIBUNE, on January 15, offered ten rewards of $100.00 each for the best examples of successful salesmanship in the face of present discouraging conditions. Incidents were invited which would illustrate the absolute truth of the slogan—1921 Will Reward Fighters.

Brains without work are dead—and so is work without brains. The winners in THE TRIBUNE contest did not beat their heads out against stone walls—neither did they let stone walls stop them. Perseverance, determination and courage were directed by brains. Necessity proved mother to invention in almost every case. In four instances newspaper advertising was a big factor in solving the sales problem.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE—Also a Salesman

THE FACT that THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE sells more than 450,000 copies each week-day morning and more than 800,000 each Sunday morning will indicate that THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE knows something about selling. More than 25,000,000 lines of CHICAGO TRIBUNE advertising sold last year constitutes another testimonial to the salesmanship of THE TRIBUNE's organization.

But the important thing for you to know is that THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE itself is a salesman—a super-salesman that you can hire to work with and for you. It is a salesman calling regularly in one-fifth of the homes of Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE is a salesman that works in close harmony with all other salesmen—helps the manufacturer sell the dealer, helps the dealer sell the consumer. THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE is an up-to-date, 1921 fighting salesman, ready to help your sales organization to go over the top this year. You owe it to your fighting salesmen to give them the co-operation of fighting advertising in this powerful newspaper.

Ten Fighting Salesmen Who Won CHICAGO TRIBUNE Prizes

MRS. ALICE M. B—L, who found that her Virginia Hogs would not bring as much on the market as it cost to raise them. How she entered into competition with the big Chicago packers—and won—is told in her letter.

J. L. BLAKE, on the other hand, was selling Canned Goods in Southern California for one of the big Chicago packers. How he turned a cancellation of a five-case order into a new order for 83 cases makes good reading.

JOHN S. EDMUNDS of Chicago had a big order for China Dinner Sets cancelled. Fast thinking, quick action, co-operation between merchant and manufacturer, resulted in the sale of the entire original order and an additional carload as well.

MRS. G. L. GIBSON met the "Buyers' Strike" when Kentucky jobbers announced that they were all loaded up with Corn Flakes for which there seemed to be no call from grocers. She cleared their warehouse for them and new orders followed as a matter of course.

J. C. HUNT found dealers in New York towns overstocked with his Kitchen Cabinets, local factories closed, business at a standstill. But he soon got big new orders from grateful merchants.

LOUIS C. JACOBSON had to sell a Chicago mail-order house on buying more Advertising than ever before in the face of greatest depression. He did it and it paid.

WILLIAM F. MOLLOY was threatened with cancellation of an order for Grape Juice because his customer could buy for less elsewhere. But he held the order and made two friends.

T. R. SHAW was told by his firm to sell Soap—lots of it. Grocers in his Illinois territory wouldn't buy, so he sold it through a clothing store and advertising.

HARRY W. WALLACE met a grocer who said he couldn't buy Soap or Beans or Ketchup because trade was dead in his part of Massachusetts. Wallace showed him how to bring dead trade to life.

ROBERT D. WHITE created business for himself and for his customer by demonstrating that women in a small Kansas town would buy Easter Dresses in January.

A pamphlet has been published containing these vital messages of victory from men and women on the firing line of business. A copy will be mailed to any one who sends a stamped, return envelope (size No. 10) to the Business Survey of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Any one of these examples of 1921 Fighting Salesmanship may have within it an idea or inspiration which you can use to enormous advantage this year.

CHECKS FOR $90 TRIP PURTELLE, CAR PROMOTER

Arrested with Woman at North Side Hotel.

Eugene Purteile, who has sought several times to solve Chicago's street car problems by means of subways and other schemes, is in trouble again, this time over the little matter of writing checks when he has insufficient funds in the banks.

He was arrested last night at his apartment in the "Mouth Hotel," 1700 Broadway, with Mrs. Laura Pratt of 4554 Malden avenue.

Purtelle came into fame first in Chicago in 1914 when, backed by mysterious French capital, he sought the approval of Mayor Harrison and the council transportation committee to support his scheme for a $150,000,000 subway.

Purtelle is only 40 years old, but he has lived a life full of thrills. In 1902 he was Milwaukee manager for "Red Letter" Sullivan, bucket shop king. He landed in Chicago in a similar job and in 1909 blossomed forth as Purteile & Co. stock and bond brokers, 222 South La Salle street. This lasted about a year and wound up in the courts.

Back to Al Chicago.

Purtelle, still buoyant, launched into traction business in Indiana. This ended in suits and dissolution for the stockholders. The Chicago field hunted him again and he has been in various ventures here since that time.

Woman Taxis to Station.

Mrs. Pratt, whose husband is said to be in Oklahoma, prevailed upon Detective Sergeant Lawrence McDonough to take her to the station in a taxi. She paid the fare. She was taken to South Clark street and Purteile to the headquarters, where his record is being investigated.

URGE O'BRIEN TO QUIT CITY RACE IN FOURTH WARD

So extreme was the bitterness during and following the February battle in the Fourth ward that pressure is being brought to induce James J. O'Brien, the Thompson Democratic candidate, to withdraw from the present fight preparatory to the election of April 5.

O'Brien, owner of a saloon at 3265 South Halsted street in which "Smiling Jack" O'Brien killed Detective Sergeant Richard J. Burke, is declared to have suffered severely from attacks made upon his conduct of the saloon. These included an energetic denunciation by the Rev. Joseph McNamee of St. David's parish, which alone is said to have cost the saloonkeeper considerable strength.

Under the circumstances considerable active support has been withdrawn from him and it has been suggested it would be better for him to withdraw than take a bad defeat.

Chief Clerk Lohman of the election board says today is the last day for the withdrawal of a candidate. O'Brien last night was firm in his declaration that he would not drop out of the race.

His opponent is Ald. Timothy A. Hogan, and one reason for O'Brien's determination to "stick" is said to be his loyalty to Ald. John A. Richter, to whom the Dalley forces, which are backing Hogan, are hostile.

CITY HALL MEN PREPARE TO PICK JUDICIAL TICKET

Springfield, Ill., March 22.—The city hall Republican organization filed two calls today for judicial conventions to be held at the Great Northern hotel May 3. One call came from the "old" committee as reorganized last week, when Charles V. Barrett was elected county chairman. The other is the committee of which Charles R. Francis, commissioner of public works, is the chairman. The Francis convention will be held at 2 o'clock and the Barrett convention at 3 o'clock in the crystal room of the Great Northern.

Unquestionably both conventions will nominate the same list of city hall slatted candidates for the twenty circuit judgeships and the one Superior court place. The two calls were filed this afternoon with Secretary of State Emmerson.

A call signed by Homer K. Galpin, filed March 15, was for a convention at 2 p. m. at another hotel, "of ward committeemen elected in the city in 1916 and precinct committeemen elected in country towns in 1918."

Call for a Democratic convention at 11 a. m. April 26, was filed by Anton J. Cermak. Twenty circuit judges and one Superior court judge are to be nominated.

MRS. MCCARTHY WEEPS AS HOME JOY IS RECALLED

Mrs. Margaret M. McCarthy burst into tears yesterday at a hearing in Judge Sabath's court to determine the amount of separate maintenance she shall receive from her husband, William J. McCarthy, reputed millionaire and a director of the Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company.

McCarthy, in response to questions by Attorney Perry S. Patterson, was enumerating the household effects that adorned their home at 3521 West Jackson boulevard in 1917, before they were separated.

"The photograph was probably the most used thing in the house," he said. "There were a number of records that we used to play every evening. Then there were pictures, books, and other things. All have since been taken away."

Before he could finish Mrs. McCarthy was weeping. Judge Sabath called a recess until she had composed herself.

GIRL, 19, GAGGED, ROBBED, AND LEFT LYING IN ALLEY

Posses Hunt Negro; Nab Annoyer of Two.

Miss Nina Jones, 19 years old and pretty, was attacked, gagged and robbed by an unidentified Negro at 9 o'clock last night, two minutes after she had alighted from a surface car at Thirty-fourth street and Cottage Grove avenue.

Within thirty minutes after she was found unconscious in an alleyway voluntarily of neighbors and friends were searching the neighborhood for her assailant.

A. A. Rosenthal of 516 East Thirty-third place was taking a short cut home when he stumbled on the girl. He called to passersby, and they carried her to the residence of Dr. W. E. Hall, 844 East Thirty-fourth street. She was later taken to the Lakeside hospital, and thence home.

Gagged With Her Gloves.

She recovered consciousness in Dr. Hall's home long enough to tell the story of the attack. Her assailant, she said, was about six feet tall and heavily built. He accosted her on the sidewalk on Thirty-fourth street about one hundred feet west of Cottage Grove avenue. She tried to scream, she said, whereupon he placed his hand over her mouth and carried her down the alley. There he stuffed her gloves down her throat and threatened her with death, she said. He took a $100 diamond ring and her $45 watch.

Nab Annoyer of Two Girls.

Paul Janz, who says he is a night watchman employed by the Dragon Motors corporation, 3200 North Claremont avenue, was captured after attempting to assist Miss Rose Parker, 16 years old, and Miss Josephine Rada, 17 years old, in the vestibule of their home at 3015 Gresham street.

Policemen heard the girls scream and ran to the rescue. Janz was overpowered after a ten minute fight. He was viewed by other victims of his attacks at the Shakespeare avenue station today.

PHONE SERVICE IMPROVES; 100 AWAITING JOBS

Telephone service is improving. Unemployment, causing a surplus of applications for jobs as operators, is the ill which in this case is blowing the public good, according to Arthur V. Scheiber, city telephone supervisor, whose report for February forecasts a return to normalcy in phone service.

Complaints concerning service, nineteenth of which refer to delay in getting the operator, fell off 9.2 per cent, his report will say. Complaints of the company's failure to extend service to new applicants also fell off about 10 per cent.

The surplus of applicants for jobs permits the company to choose its operators more carefully and require a higher standard of discipline, it is declared. For the first time since 1916 the company has a waiting list of 100 names.

WEST PARK GOLF GAMES TO COST DIME HEREAFTER

Persons playing golf in any of the parks under the control of the west park commission will be compelled to pay 10 cents a game and those who are not members of the commission must pay $1.50. A resolution making both rates effective April 1 was adopted yesterday at the monthly meeting of the commissioners.

To curtail operating expenses, the positions of consulting landscape gardener and manager of stables were abolished. The former place was held by Jens Jensen at a salary of $3,000 a year, while the latter was occupied by Henry A. Mugler at $2,500 a year.

Miss Florence Ward, head of the west park police tendered her resignation because of ill health, saying he intended to go south for a number of months and asking that he be reinstated as sergeant upon his return. His resignation was accepted.

Sunshine Pickle Man of Bootleg Fame Coming Back

Harold Michele, part owner of the Sunshine pickle factory and who has been missing from Chicago for many months, is coming back again. Michele disappeared with the $81,000 capital of a bootlegging ring. Yesterday Chief Justice Hunter at Vancouver, B. C., refused to dismiss extradition papers granted for his return.

FIVE HOMESICK RUNAWAYS GIVE UP AT CHAMPAIGN

Two boys and three girls who ran away from their homes in Chicago Saturday were located yesterday in Champaign, Ill. They were Frank Sweeney and Victor Mussaw, addresses not obtained, both 14; and Helen Davis, 16 years old, 813 East Thirty-ninth street. Florence McKeever, 16 years old, 3737 Cottage Grove avenue, and Emma Reed, 14 years old, 615 Oakwood boulevard.

The parents notified the police Sunday night. The runaways telephoned yesterday that they were in Champaign and homesick for Chicago. They had planned, they said, to go to the plantation of Sweeney's aunt, in Mississippi.

U.S. WORKERS WHO BRIGHTEN FARM LIFE MEET HERE

The tenth annual conference of the extension workers of the United States department of agriculture opened at the Sherman hotel yesterday morning. More than 100 extension directors and leaders of county agents, home demonstration work, and boys' and girls' club work were present.

This country needs more county agents, Dr. A. C. True of the state's relation service, Washington, D. C., said. The work among the farmers is greater than ever before and more women are needed to carry on the home demonstration work to help farm women. He urged greater interest be taken in the children of the farm through the boys' and girls' clubs.

Miss Florence Ward, head of the home demonstration department of the thirty-three northern and western states, reviewed the home economic conditions in these states.

This "Haroun al Raschid" Looked So Good; "Policer"

Capt. Patrick Kelliher, in mufti, was doing a Haroun al Raschid through the Ghetto of the Maxwell street police district yesterday when a score of plenipotentiaries of sidewalk both merchants mistook him for a customer. Each, protesting he had seen him first, seized a segment of his person and apparel. He was drawn, but not quartered, although the mufti will never look the same again. After being rescued Capt. Kelliher arrested some fifty merchants. They were arraigned before Judge Schulman, who warned them they must dispense with business agents.

BEG YOUR PARDON

An item in THE TRIBUNE of the last of February quoted Sidney Ball as saying that diamond prices are decreasing. Sidney Y. Ball, president of the Norris Alister-Ball company, wishes to make it clear that he is not the same Sidney Ball quoted.

THE TRIBUNE's election returns published on Feb. 23 listed Charles G. Hendricks, candidate for alderman in the Twenty-sixth ward as a Democrat. Mr. Hendricks says he has always registered as a Republican and has voted as such.

AUTO IN FUNERAL CORTEGE KILLS 7 YEAR OLD BOY

An automobile in a funeral cortege yesterday was responsible for the death of a 7 year old boy. The funeral was passing South Hamilton avenue and West Sixty-second street when Gordon Kelly, 3919 West Sixtieth street, ran between two of the automobiles. He was knocked down and run over, and died a short time later at the Englewood hospital.

Fred J. Segebart, 43 years old, a stenographer of Wellington, Kas., died from injuries he received in an automobile accident last fall. Miss Carrie Weinknick, 20 years old, 2108 North Oakley avenue, died of injuries received nine months ago.

She Threatens Hatpin if Judge Lets "Annoyer" Go

Francis Malato will face an angry woman in court this morning. Mrs. Agnes Carlson, 1908 North Kildare avenue, says if the judge's sentence does not meet with her approval, her hatpin, her husband, and all her other relatives will be called upon to mete out justice.

She charges Malato annoyed her and Miss Marie Flowers of 1138 Milwaukee avenue, a girl friend, in a street car. She also is angry about the remark Malato is said to have made to the policeman who arrested him, "O, she just wants to have her picture in the paper."

Malato lives at 1042 West Grand avenue and is manager of the Eureka Music company. He denies the charges.

Uniform Auto Travel Rules Sought Throughout State

Members of the traffic committee of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, meeting yesterday at the Hotel La Salle, centered discussion on a proposed law that will standardize all motor vehicle, highway, and traffic regulations in this state.

"Speed limits should be the same throughout the state, and the Chicago motorist should know the law as well as the village constable," explained a member of the committee.

L. KURZ, FAMOUS ARTIST, FRIEND OF LINCOLN, DIES

Louis Kurz, 87 years old, well known artist and painter of church paintings, died at his home at 2141 North Clark street early Monday morning.

Mr. Kurz, who was one of the founders of the A. R. T. Institute, came to Chicago in 1852. He founded the lithographing house of Kurz and Allison. Mr. Kurz was a friend of Logan, Lincoln, Grant, and Longfellow. During the civil war Lincoln asked him to make sketches of the battlefields and his pictures were the first to be issued after the close of the war.

"Washington's Entry into Trenton" was one of his famous historical paintings. Other organizations which will participate are the Midland Authors and the Wayfarers.

The Cliff Dwellers committee is headed by Harry Hardy, manager of the Blackstone theater. The Wayfarers are represented by Charles Collins, dramatic critic of the Post, and by Harry Kitchell Webster, the novelist. Payson S. Wilde represents the Midland Authors. This tribute is represented by Tiffany Blake and Clifford Raymond.

PUBLIC MEMORIAL TO HONOR B. L. T. PLANNED SUNDAY

Friends of Bert Leston Taylor plan to conduct a memorial service, probably next Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, at the Blackstone theater. It is hoped all contributors to "The Line" and all readers will be present. There will be a program of music and addresses.

The Cliff Dwellers had planned to hold a meeting Saturday, but it may be consolidated with the Sunday meeting. Other organizations which will participate are the Midland Authors and the Wayfarers.

Seek to Turn Playgrounds Over to the School Board

Legislation permitting the turning over of seventy-two municipal playgrounds from the city to the board of education for the purpose of increasing the physical education standard of the schools is being sought by William A. Bither, attorney for the board. Action on the bill is expected to take place within a few days.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

What are you going to do with your 218 hours of daylight this summer?

Where Asked.

Clark and Kinzie streets.

The Answers.

John Owen, 306 Englewood avenue, lawyer—I'm going to spend the extra hour of daylight playing golf or tennis every day the weather permits. The daylight saving act is a good one for the man who is in an office all day. It will give him a chance to get out in the open and get the good old fresh air.

Miss Lynette Pendleton, 2432 Geneva terrace, stenographer—I will be able to spend more time in the open. The way it is now, it is dark when I get home. With daylight saving in effect I can get home before dark. I suppose I will do more walking and less riding and thereby lose some weight.

John B. Bercher, 1818 Sedgwick street, clerk—I am going to drive to more auto driving and get out in the daylight and try to find some good old fashioned beer. It will not be so hard to locate in the daytime. The way it is now, before I can get around in the sun shine.

I can go driving I have to light the lamps on my machine, with daylight saving I can get around in the sun shine.

Miss Lauretta Werner, 331 South Kedzie avenue, stenographer—I never give the daylight saving a thought and I really don't know what I am going to do with the extra hours of daylight. I will get more fresh air and do more walking.

James C. O'Brien, 3446 West Adams street, lawyer—I am going to spend more time with my wife and the six little O'Briens and I will be able to get out in the park with my children. The exercise I will get playing around with them before supper will put me in condition to be able to do a good day's work.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES.
Have you a little aura in your head? A nimble nimbus 'bout your head?

If you haven't, something's wrong, according to Mrs. Fairclough-Smith, London spiritualist, who told a group of earnest neophytes in the colorful art of aura-hunting at the Congress hotel last night that once to every man and woman is given an aura, the colors of which shine out around the head, the vibrations of which are mighty enough to rock potentates from their thrones. Like Gaul, all auras, it would seem, are divided into three parts, or folds, as the lecture prefers, call them. First, there is the physical fold, large, dappled and easily unwrapped, which produces the colors of the spectrum.

Couple of Coy Auras.

Next comes the mental aura, a bit more retiring and rather loath to reveal its mentality. Third, and a veritable Col. House for secrecy, is the spiritual aura which, by dint of much coaxing, cajoling and petting on the part of the occult reader, will furnish forth a moral barometer, far more accurate than any hidden diary or the stubs in a check book.

The aura, so ran the lecture, is a very subtle thing to tackle, because it is the place where the spirit builds, and you know building regulations. A well developed, all wool aura is not the work of a moment; no, indeed.

"How wonderful we are in our selves. Our outer crust should melt away," cried a voice from out of the depths of a brilliant orange velvet gown, as hands heavily laden with diamonds and sapphires, wrist watches and a jade bracelet were raised in supplication, and something over 300 pounds away back and forth, as the voice petitioned that "this, too solid flesh" would melt.

Then Came Demonstrations.

All the way from London she has come to help us. At the conclusion of the lecture Mrs. Smith began her demonstrations.

"Unfold your auras," she commanded. A woman dropped her umbrella, two men shifted their knees, and a girl coughed.

"Unfold your auras now, and don't wait until death to join this class." The girl coughed again and the meeting went on with auras spread like sails.

Demonstration number one was a man with a turquoise blue aura.

"You have emotion and intellect," exclaimed the seer satanically. "You have great power to write."

The subject smiled as he, no doubt, visualized a Waterman trailing clouds of blue light across pages and pages of best sellers.

One with a Crimson Aura.

Number two had a crimson aura. Has been dark red, it would have been last for dark red is an animal color. "Control your red current," is the advice of the lecturer. Luckily for number two, the shade was a safe crimson, and to make assurance doubly sure, there was a tinge of sapphire blue, which is just the soothing color to stimulate a sick person. The subject was sorry that he was not a doctor, but there was nothing he could do about it, just then.

The man in the latest cut gray suit who sat in the back of the room picked a winner when he chose orange for the shade of his aura. Ambition, vitality, personality, energy, success, all this and more were his. "Do you understand me, interrogate the lecturer. He admitted that he did."

"You," pointing to a quiet looking man, "have great power over animals. I see a white horse, a tiger, and a dog, right there."

The girl who had been coughing began to titter.

"I see wild animals. Long ago you commanded them." The man looked puzzled, but nodded. He will probably invest in a goldfish tomorrow.

There was the grays, rather disconsolate. For where there should have been porcupine quills were only drooping feathers. But a silver stream in front saved the night and the man's reputation, for that meant lots of things.

Here's How to Get It.

Mrs. Smith's advice for daily concentration and meditation is to repeat, "My aura, my aura, where is my aura?" It's not a guessing game nor the refrain of a popular song, but a sort of a 4-11 spiritual fire alarm in which the reserve aura which is always ready to come running.

"I know all your thoughts," confessed Mrs. Smith. "I know what all of you are thinking of me."

"So do I," mumbled a good looking young man, too good looking to be at the meeting. "We're thinking how fat you are."

Landis Permits Renting of Closed Bar Property

Judge K. M. Landis of the federal court intimated in rulings yesterday that he will permit property owners to release premises now occupied by saloons closed by injunctions, if the new renter is not identified with the liquor trade. Charles E. Butler, owning property at 543 South State street, was the first to be benefited by the ruling. He said the Salvation Army desired to rent the rooms occupied by the banned saloon. The saloons of Charles Schmidt, 2733 Archer avenue; Jay Lawson, 2900 Fullerton avenue; and William Mann, 2514 Milwaukee avenue, were ordered closed for a year.

One Bullet in "Empty" Pistol; Kills Brother

An "empty" revolver with which two brothers were playing happened to have one bullet in it. As a result, Robert Brown, 5 years old, was instantly killed in his home at 1627 Center avenue, Chicago Heights, yesterday by his 15 year old brother, Clifton.

RING MANAGERS
BAND FOR CLEAN, STRICT CONTESTS

TRIBUNE DECISIONS

Decisions of Tribune boxing representatives were:
New York—Tommy Gibbons stopped Paul Alphonse (10); Vic McLaughlin and Frankie Carpenter, draw (10).
Chicago—W. Va. Hope Mullin beat Billy Walsh (10).
Philadelphia—Mike Gredel beat Joe Quinn, foul (8).
Philadelphia—Al Fox beat Joe Wells (10).

BY RAY PEARSON.

The Illinois Association of Boxing Managers became a fact yesterday when twenty-two Chicago managers met at the Arcade gymnasium. The formation of the new organization was enthusiastically worked out, and at another meeting next Tuesday officers will be elected and rules adopted. The next meeting will be held at the Perretti-Forbes gym. Howard Carr (Kid Howard) was appointed temporary chairman of the organization. Managers who joined the new body were:

Must List Their Stables.
Every manager will be required to submit a list of boxers under his management at the next meeting. The purpose of the organization, as outlined by Chairman Howard, is to eliminate the state boxing commission in the event a bill legalizing the sport is passed by the legislature. Each organization, Howard believes, would be of great help in keeping the game clean. The Managers' association, however, will be a permanent organization, regardless of legislative action, Howard said, because it believed such a body can do much for the betterment of the sport.

Stern Against Alibi Managers.
Most of yesterday's meeting was devoted to the discussion of "First to the wire" managers and "alibi managers," and, judged by the attitude, there will no longer be any necessity for such classification. A rule was adopted which stops managers from signing in the practice of telegraphing results, erroneous or otherwise, to newspapers. The rule as framed is as follows:

Any manager who telegraphs an erroneous report of a bout to a newspaper will for the first offense be punished by a fine to be determined by a committee of the organization. The penalty for a second offense shall be suspension for all time. Newspapers receiving such results from managers are requested to send them to the organization to be used as evidence of violation of the rules of the managers' association.

Must Be in Shape to Box.
Here's the rule which concerns the "old" business:
"It shall be the business of every manager to see that all boxers are in condition to contest in bouts before they enter the ring. If they permit themselves to engage in contests when not in shape, the penalty to be determined by the organization, shall be inflicted. This rule is intended to stop the practice of fighting by managers."

This rule will be helpful to a boxing commission, and it would save such commission the trouble of issuing orders preventing a bout when it is discovered that a boxer is not in condition to contest. Both rules cited go into effect after next Tuesday, according to Chairman Howard.

GIBBONS DROPS
SAMPSON IN 2D.
ROUND AT N. Y.

New York, March 22.—[Special.]—Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul light-heavyweight, lost no time tonight dropping Paul Sampson, a Harlem lunkhead, in the first round of a bout slated for fifteen rounds. Tommy dropped Sampson to the canvas twice, once for a count of nine. Sampson was groggy when the going ended the period. It was apparent he was done for. After the second round had been on for one minute and five seconds Gibbons uncorked a mean left hook and landed on the New York boxer amid a roar. Paul looked about for a corner, but to no avail. This fall, however, was the second one in the second round. Sampson also took a dive for a count, but managed to regain his feet quickly. Gibbons was outwitted by the novice.

MOORE VS. KELLY
IN KENOSHA RING

Negotiations have been started for a heavyweight bout in the Kenosha ring operated by Bill Frazier. Pal Moore of Memphis and Jimmy Kelly, a local Italian, are the boys being talked on for the windup.

Madonna and Bello Form
Team for Six Day Race

Italy will be represented by Tom Bello and Madonna in the six day international six day bicycle race which starts at the stockyards amphitheater a week from Sunday night. The management says this is the strongest team that has ever represented Italy in a six day race in the United States. The entry of Madonna and Bello makes four teams already in the race, the others being Horan and Fitzsimmons, Ireland; Corry and McBeath, Australia; and Madden and Magin, United States.

THE GUMPS—HOW DO YOU WANT YOUR EGGS?

In the Wake of the News

THIS IS POTES' DAY.

Alone.
So hard we try sometimes to share
Our joys and griefs and every care.
Congenial friends may gather round,
Yet no two souls alike be found.
And to each heart the truth is known:
Each soul, forsooth, must live alone.
Each thought has many shades, we know.

Of meaning. And they differ so.
We do not catch each other's thought,
Just as we faint would have it caught.
We do not know, nor are we known;
And all our lives we dwell alone.

An Error.
Once in dear classic Evanston,
There roamed a too-tie fly,
That hadn't led a merry life,
For that good place was there.

And as he sadly pondered there,
These words gave him a thrill:
"I was a private in the ranks,
Now, I'm a private still!"
Forthwith that too-tie fly,
But it killed him when he found
He'd trapped a former U. S. Marine.
Babette.

'Way Back When.
Do You Remember When
Grandmother used to say:
"There's just one way to keep your health."
And scarce disease away.
So take this time and trot along
Down to the druggist's shop,
And get some asafetida.
Ask for the newest crop."
And then she made a little bag
And hung it round your neck.
Oh boy! Remember how it made
You hold your nose 'ere'ek?
Ebee.

His Remedy.
There was a man in our town
Who had a wondrous thirst,
And when the Volstead act was passed
He cursed and cursed and cursed.
Then, finding cursing did no good,
With all his might and main,
He made a batch of home-brew stuff
And became a man again.
Gordon.

MEYERS WOULD POSTPONE BOUT

Ed White, manager of Champion Johnny Meyers, is trying to induce officials of the Second regiment to postpone the Meyers-Talaber championship clash for one week from March 30, the date set for the argument.

Kearns and Tex to Settle on Cash Terms for Big Go

New York, March 22.—[Special.]—Tex Rickard and Jack Kearns, manager for Jack Dempsey, will hold a conference tomorrow to settle arrangements for Dempsey and Carpenter agreeing to meet on a percentage basis. Dempsey has already agreed, and Rickard is waiting for word from the French champion.

Fox Beats Welling in Eight Rounds at Philly

Philadelphia, Pa., March 22.—[Special.]—Joe Welling gave Al Fox a hard set to tonight in the eighth round wind-up at the Auditorium Athletic club, but at the end Fox was entitled to the verdict by a shade.

Madonna and Bello Form
Team for Six Day Race

Italy will be represented by Tom Bello and Madonna in the six day international six day bicycle race which starts at the stockyards amphitheater a week from Sunday night. The management says this is the strongest team that has ever represented Italy in a six day race in the United States. The entry of Madonna and Bello makes four teams already in the race, the others being Horan and Fitzsimmons, Ireland; Corry and McBeath, Australia; and Madden and Magin, United States.

GLEASON MARSHALS
SOX IN TWO SQUADS
FOR HOMEWARD TRIP

Waxahachie, Tex., March 22.—[Special.]—Regulars and Hooties were of ficially chosen for the homeward jaunt when Kid Gleason mobilized his White Sox at Jungle park this afternoon. Cold weather threatened to keep the athletes indoors, but the Kid ordered his charges out in uniform, and, despite the chill breeze and occasional splash of rain, they managed to get in a snappy rehearsal.

EDDIE MULLIGAN, snappy rehearsal.
The division of the squad sent the following men to the two teams, with the batting order as list:

SECOND TEAM—Turgeon, shortstop; McClellan, third base; Murphy, right field; Falk, left field; Bubler, second base; Monahan, first base; M. Collins, center field; Jonard, catcher; Bickins, Fenner, Jorgensen, Penas, Franka, Hodge, Tassar, Faber, McWhorter and Wilkinson, pitchers; Reider, utility.

The selection of Eddie Mulligan to play third base on the first team means the former Salt Lake star probably will man the hot corner when the bell rings at Detroit on April 13. Eddie seems to have shaded Harvey McClellan in the fight for this position.

Several members of the Sox team attended the barbecue given in the Getzandener park this afternoon by the local lodge of the Elks.

The Sox regulars play the Waxahachie High school nine tomorrow and leave Thursday night for Wichita Falls to play Friday, Saturday, and Sunday. On Tuesday they appear at Brownwood, Tex. The Yankigans are booked with Trinity college here Friday, and play Saturday and Sunday at Elton. On Monday and Tuesday they perform at Austin and on Wednesday they go to Greenville.

Dr. Lasker and Capablanca
Draw in Third Chess Game

HAVANA, March 22.—The third game for the world's chess championship between Dr. Emanuel Lasker of Berlin and José Capablanca of Havana, which was adjourned early Monday morning after sixty-two moves, was resumed tonight and declared a draw after only one additional move had been made. The time consumed in the completion of the third game was: Capablanca, 3:55:00; Lasker, 4:20:00.

Boys to 'Show' Pa and Ma
Tonight at the C. A. A.

Junior night at the C. A. A. will be celebrated tonight, when boys who have taken gymnasium and boxing lessons will give exhibitions in the presence of their parents and friends. Benny Yanger, boxing instructor, will lead a class in boxing, while basketball games, pyramid building, and running and jumping contests will complete the program, which will start at 7:30 o'clock.

C. H. I. Girls' Five Beats
Woodstock for 24th Win

The girls' basketball team of Chicago Hebrew Institute defeated Woodstock Typewriter five last night on the latter's floor, 16 to 1. It was the twenty-fourth straight victory for the local team. The Aurora Y. W. C. A. quintet will be met in the C. H. I. gymnasium on Saturday night.

The Frisky Cubs

Pasadena, Cal., March 22.—[Special.]—The Cubs pulled up stakes today after concluding the first stage of their spring training. Tomorrow they start a series of exhibition games that will run until the day before the National league season opens. The Los Angeles club, under the management of Wade Kilgus, will move to Paddock field tomorrow.

The stay here
FRANK CHANCE, under whom the Cubs achieved world-wide fame, was at the final practice today. He conferred long and earnestly with Manager Evers, but would not commit himself as to his opinion of the team's prospects.

"I want to see them in ball games before passing judgment," he said. Secretary John O. Seys visited Bill Marriot, the infielder, and reports that he is recovering rapidly. Marriot should be able to play again by mid-season.

The Cubs will continue to reside here until Sunday, taking a trolley car each day to Vernon, where they play games with Vernon and Los Angeles. Sunday night the regulars go to Sacramento and the goods depart Saturday for some upstate cities.

BILL TO REVIVE
RACING STIRS UP
MISSOURI 'FANS'

Jefferson City, Mo., March 22.—[Special.]—Horse racing will be reestablished in Missouri under legal sanction within ninety days and without any restrictions on betting, unless Gov. Hyde vetoes a bill slipped through the legislature during the final rush under the guise of an "army horse breeding act."

The bill was signed by Lieut. Gov. Lloyd today as presiding officer of the senate and sent to the governor's office. Nobody apparently noticed the joker until today.

Bill Passed Saturday.
After getting through the house, the bill was rushed over to the senate. The senate record shows it was read the first time March 18, and referred to the agricultural committee, of which Senator Belken is chairman. It was reported next day and passed Saturday.

The bill was introduced in the house by Representative Porter of Lafayette and Representative Rollins of Boone county. How it got out of the house agricultural committee is not known. Dunlap of Davies, a farmer and foe of boxing bills and similar legislation, is chairman of the committee.

The bill establishes a horse breeding commission, but it neglects to mention racing in the title.

Governor to Investigate.
St. Louis, Mo., March 22.—Gov. Hyde announced tonight that on his return to Jefferson City he will inquire into the horse breeding bill just passed by the legislature, under which racing could be revived in Missouri.

Future Buds of Society Come Home for Easter Vacation

GROUPS of school girls and boys are arriving daily from the east for the Easter vacation. The Farmington contingent was the first to come, arriving last Thursday.

In it were Miss Ruth Keely, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Keely of 1309 Mitchell court; Miss Marion Erskine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert De Witt Erskine of 33 East Division street; Miss Carol Kitting, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kitting of 48 Bellevue place; and Miss Marie King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. King of 1450 Astor street.

Miss Lydia Beckwith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hubbard of 1344 Astor street; Miss Blufford Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Richardson of 1320 State parkway; and Miss Louise Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rogers of 40 Bellevue place.

Among the girls who will arrive tomorrow from Bryn Mawr are Miss Betty Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Scott of Hubbard Woods; Miss Clara Donnelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Donnelly of Lake Forest; Miss Marion Holt, daughter of Mr. Charles S. Holt of 38 Bellevue place; Miss Phoebe Norcross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norcross of 1500 Astor street; and Miss Lydia Beckwith, daughter of Mr. John D. Black of 222 East Delaware place.

Coming from school in Simsbury, Conn., Saturday will be Miss Mary Boyden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Boyden of Winnetka; Miss Alice de Windt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Heyliger A. de Windt of Winnetka; Miss Barbara Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Scott of Hubbard Woods; Miss Barbara Dunham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wirth S. Dunham of 1353 State parkway; Miss Harriet Leonard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Leonard of Winnetka; and Miss Mary Pentress, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Pentress of Winnetka.

Miss Jane Scriven, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Scriven of 14 Bellevue place, will arrive today from Ogontz.

In some cases the parents of the girls or boys go east and meet their children instead of having the latter come home. Mr. and Mrs. Leverett Thompson of 10 East Schiller street will leave tomorrow for the Virginia Hot Springs, where they will be joined by their daughter, Laura. Mrs. William Van Dusen of 70 East Schiller street will leave today for Atlantic City, where she will be joined by her daughter, Jane, who attends school in Providence, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Edmund Holland of 124 Astor street left yesterday for Atlantic City to spend the vacation with their son, John Jr., who is a student at Yale.

Mrs. John E. May of 54 East Division street is in Atlantic City with her daughter, Harriet, who attends school at Farmington.

Miss Emilie Hoyt, who is a student at Dobbs Ferry, has joined her mother, Mrs. Phelps B. Hoyt of 40 Cedar street, Atlantic City.

Mrs. Wilhelm L. Baum will open her residence at 1508 State parkway this afternoon at 3 o'clock for the last of a course of three lectures under the auspices of the Drama League. Prof. Fredrick C. Letts of 999 Lake Shore drive will return the latter part of this month from Florida.

Mrs. Frederick C. Letts of 999 Lake Shore drive will return the latter part of this month from Florida.

Mrs. Charles J. Thresher of the Sovereign hotel is spending several weeks in Santa Barbara, Cal.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Ranney of Hill North State parkway sailed yesterday afternoon for New York for a two-month stay in Europe.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY
Washington, D. C., March 22.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lansing have as guests for two days the retiring ambassador to Great Britain and Mrs. John W. Davis, who arrived last evening.

Mrs. John Chubbey has announced the engagement of her daughter, Polly, to Mr. William Deering Howe, son of Mr. Richard Howe of New York, and nephew of Mr. James Deering and Mrs. Charles Deering of Chicago. The wedding will take place in June.

"Russian Week" will be celebrated in Washington as a brilliant feature of the Easter season. Mr. and Mrs. Breckinridge Long will give a ball on Tuesday evening, April 12. The next evening, Wednesday, there will be a Russian dinner. On Thursday afternoon Mr. Stoye, the Russian envoy to Buenos Aires, will talk on Russia at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Woods Bliss, illustrating with lantern slides. On Friday a card party will be given at the Washington Park hotel, where Russian music will be a feature, and on Saturday there will be a garden party.

Isolde Menges Shows Versatility of Musicianship by Ruth Miller.

WHEN Isolde Menges played Mozart's A major sonata last night at Kimball hall, she did it in a manner that indicated that she is possessed of considerable gray matter. She brought to it a lovely, thoughtful style, simplicity, and, singularly, clean cut technique and clearest of tones. It was done with an intelligent emotional reserve.

But her playing of Achorn's Hebrew melody was another matter. Here was that gusty walling, that passionate sobbing revolt that is so familiar in Semitic music. Here was a tone big and plucky in quality. Here was temperament and fire enough for anybody.

I liked her playing of Debussy's "En Bateau." Therein was displayed another facet of her complete musicianship. The Brahms-Johann Hungarian dance contained a number of passages that Miss Menges is not the first violinist to be vanquished by the handful of tricky intervals in its middle portion.

For the remainder of her program she played Bruch's D minor concerto, which is known to the fiddling fraternity as the other one to differentiate it from the familiar G minor; Chopin's Nocturne in E minor; and Serenade and Valse by T. de Boy. Her audience, which might have been larger, was highly appreciative.

A New Daughter.

Announcement is made of the birth of a daughter, Jean, on March 10 to Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Williams Hill of the Surf hotel. Mrs. Hill formerly was Miss Helen Maier of Ridgewood, N. Y.

"Aphrodite" Returns with a New Chrysis; Mr. Thurston Obliges by Sheppard Butler.

"APHRODITE" is again at the Auditorium, its pagan splendor undimmed, and its entertainment changed from that we saw last fall in no important particular save that of the rôle of Chrysis, the courtesan. In this Miss Pauline Armitage now appears, succeeding the queenly Miss Dorothy Dalton of the movies.

Miss Armitage is somewhat vaguely identified by the management as a young woman recently out of college, who has not before figured prominently on the stage. If so, she has had training somewhere, for she seems to know her way about. She is pert in appearance, with big eyes and the suggestion of dimples—characteristics which contrast strangely with the sonorous rôle of her voice in the highfalutin phrases of the text.

Her love scenes with the enslaved Demetrius are fervid episodes, leaving little to the imagination, whereas Miss Dalton, you may remember, was inclined to be austere. On the other hand, when Miss Armitage becomes tragic she declaims. She is interesting and promising and pretty, though, and you'll find the new Chrysis no disappointment if you are minded to view Mr. Geet's great spectacle again.

To the Olympic games Thurston, the magician, with high jinks for the youthful and the credulous and those who still have a sneaking fondness for the feats of the old time prestidigitators.

His is a great show for the kids, and he is rather partial to them, calling them to the stage to help him perform, producing rabbits and pigeons for them out of the most unexpected places, mystifying them a great deal, scaring them a little, and giving them, altogether, a most wonderful time. A time not without its tragedies, however. On the other hand, you ever had Mr. Thurston give you a perfectly good pigeon and offer to wrap it up for you, only to have it disappear in the process.

For the grownups there is the levitation of the Princess Karna, which, as usual, completely stumps the committee on the stage; some gawdewy spirit manifestations; disappearances, phantom fountains, and a bewildering array of lesser phenomena. A busy and genial showman, Mr. Thurston, with his amiable running fire of small talk, his pleasant bunk about Hindoo mysticism and what not, and his whimsical air of being, himself, a bit bored by it all. With Kellar and Hermann come he's about the only wizard we have left.

I was on my way to Montreal. My husband remained here. There were some young men on the trail, and thinking to have some fun I removed my wedding ring. In the diner next morning we got acquainted. They told me their names and said that they were on their way to Montreal. I gave them a gay time, making up some parties for Montreal, when a friend entered the diner, came up and shook hands with me, calling me Mrs. and asked "How is your husband?" I got red as a beet. Grabbing my check, I paid the waiter and fled. I ignored those young men all the way.

THE SAME INITIALS

MISS DOROTHY M. HARRINGTON

ROMANCE which dates back to grammar school days will have its climax Saturday night in the marriage of Miss Dorothy M. Harrington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Harrington, and Dr. Donald M. Hinman, son of Smith D. Hinman, both of Maywood. Discovery by the young people, when classmates in the Maywood public schools, that their initials were the same developed in a friendship which later resulted in their engagement. During the war Dr. Hinman was a lieutenant in the aviation service, while Miss Harrington was active in Red Cross and other relief work.

Business Men Back Plan to Make Opera a City Institution

PLANS of the Chicago Opera association to make grand opera in Chicago a business and permanent institution were approved yesterday by Joseph R. Noel, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, in a telegram to Mary Garden, general director, who is touring with the opera company in the southwest. The campaign will begin in May, when 500 citizens will be asked to guarantee $1,000 a year each for five years.

"The Chicago Association of Commerce regards grand opera in Chicago as a business and civic asset," Mr. Noel wired to Miss Garden. "We commend the program of the Chicago Opera association to further popularize grand opera by a plan of underwriting that will make the sponsorship of grand opera in Chicago general rather than exclusive."

Mr. Noel will be the first person to sign as guarantor.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $1 for each child's saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Please write on one side of the paper. Address: Bright Sayings to Auntie Bee, Tribune, Chicago.

The dog from next door ran down to the corner and Mary immediately went after it.

A man passing by, said: "Don't touch the dog. He will bite you." "Oh, no, he won't," said Mary, "he's my cousin."

When Mr. and Mrs. Smith, with their pet ferret, called just before dinner, Buddy hurried to the kitchen, where mother was cooking a chicken, and said: "You'd better make a lot of gravy, mamma, because Mr. Smith and I have brought all his family with him."

Bring Home Body of Bugler Slain in Battle on Somme

THE body of Francis B. Swift, bugler of Co. D, 131st infantry, who was killed Aug. 10, 1918, in the battle on the Somme, is expected to arrive in Chicago tomorrow, according to word received by the parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Swift, 664 Circle avenue, Forest Park.

Funeral services will be held from the home Sunday. The body will be buried in Forest Home cemetery with military honors.

Bugler Swift was 21 years old at the time of his death. Besides his mother and father, he is survived by a sister, Maebelle. He was a member of the Church of the Epiphany, Y. M. C. A., and Typographical union No. 16.

Assemblyman Phillips Dies in Railway Station

Centrella, Ill., March 22.—Ben Phillips of Kimbundry, 51 years old, a member of the Illinois general assembly and former master in chancery of Marion county, died suddenly at the railway station in Edgewood this morning from an attack of heart disease. He was en route to Springfield to attend a session of the legislature when he was stricken.

MRS. JESSIE E. LEAVENWORTH DUNN, a member of the family for which Fort Leavenworth was named, died yesterday in Tacoma, Wash., according to word received in Lake Forest by her husband, William Dunn, board of trade man. Mrs. Dunn had been visiting a sister in Tacoma the last three months and contracted a sudden illness. She was 76 years old at the time of her death. Mrs. Dunn was the daughter of Capt. Jesse H. Leavenworth, who graduated from West Point in Gen. Robert E. Lee's army. Her grandfather was Gen. Henry Leavenworth, for whom the famous federal prison was named. She was born in Milwaukee and burial will be held there. No children survive.

MILTON CHURCHILL, for many years active in the grain trade in Chicago, Toledo, and Cleveland, died at Los Angeles, Monday. He had been in California the last ten years.

U.S. STEEL SALES SET NEW RECORD; PROFITS HIGHER

By O. A. MATHER.

Despite the slump in general business during the latter part of last year the United States Steel corporation in 1920 did the largest volume of business in its history and made the largest profit with the exception of the war years of 1916, 1917, and 1918. Gross sales aggregated $1,755,477,025, compared with $1,445,537,835 in 1919 and $1,142,123,183 in 1918, the previous record.

Net earnings in 1920, after charges and federal taxes, were $109,694,227, equivalent after preferred stock dividends to 14.6 per cent on the $750,000,000 common stock outstanding, compared with net earnings of $74,794,632, or 10.1 per cent, in 1919. Net earnings in 1920 in the common stock in the three years which ended in 1920 were as follows: 1920, $109,694,227; 1919, $74,794,632; 1918, $109,694,227.

The business and profits of the Steel corporation showed a remarkably evenness throughout 1920, largely due to the fact that it maintained prices at the level industrial goods had reached, although in independent competitors were enabled to sell their products at lower prices. Thus a much greater part of 1920 earnings showed a variation and a constant increase over 1919. Earnings were lowest in the latter part of the year, $41,212,019, and highest in the third quarter, being $50,145,311. The third quarter showed an increase over the corresponding quarter in 1919, ranging between $7,766,330 and $8,482,692.

Furthermore, the Steel corporation was of much better than its competitors during the drastic slump in business toward the end of 1920, as evidenced by the fact that it continued to operate at close to capacity, while unfilled orders in its books at the close of 1919 numbered 1,518,122 tons, compared with 1,386,268 tons at the close of 1919. However, the close of 1920 the Steel corporation had the effect of slackening demand and prices declined by comparison, as shown by the fact that it was gradually decreased its output and filled orders on March 1 had fallen to 1,087 tons.

Foreign Sales Are Lower.

Main volume of business in 1920 was wholly domestic, the total being $1,755,477,025, an increase of $162,607,781, over the $1,592,869,244 of 1919, a gain of $17,262,472.

As was a whole the year was a prosperous one. The corporation increased expenditures for maintenance, renewal, and extraordinary replacements by $1,161,461, expenditure for $3,000,000 on account of expenditures for additional property and construction, which had been so appropriated in 1919. This increased its surplus by $30,000,000, a total of $32,454,890. The addition to 1920 was $75,858,138. Investment in 1920 was $75,858,138. Also, during the year the corporation paid out $1,469,500 of bonds and purchase money of $1,469,500 of mining royalties and of subsidiaries. Inventories at the close of 1920, were valued at $25,858,138, an increase of $1,666,819 over 1919.

Higher Wages Are Paid.

Wages and salaries paid in 1920 amounted to $100,000,000, an increase of $10,000,000 over 1919. The number of employees increased 15,000. Wages and salaries aggregated $1,555,225, compared with $1,445,537,835 in 1919. The average number of employees was 27,445, compared with 26,115 in 1919. The average daily wage force, was $6.38, compared with $6.13 in 1919, while the average daily wage of all employees was $7, compared with $6.11 in 1919.

At January the corporation continued its plan of offering stock to its employees. The price this year was $21. Dividend subscriptions were the largest record. On Jan. 21 there were 10,000 more were paying for shares.

WHEAT AND OATS REACH NEW LOW FOR SEASON

BY CHARLES D. MICHAELS.

Lowest prices of the season were made for May wheat and oats yesterday. During the greater part of the day there was everything to depress and little on which to base operations for an upturn. The selling pressure was from liquidators and short sellers who overdid it on the break. A change came unexpectedly in the last hour, which made it unimportant for the bear interest and caused heavy buying and a bulge of more than 4c on wheat and 1c on oats.

The finish was at net losses of 4c on March wheat, while May gained 1c; corn was off 1/4c; oats were unchanged to 1/4c higher, rye was 1/4c higher, and barley was 1/4c lower. In provisions the finish was at a net loss of 1/4c on pork and 1/4c lower, with 1/4c on ribs 1/4c higher.

A break of 5/8c in red winter wheat premiums here, and favorable crop reports from all sections, were the main depressing factors.

May Wheat at $1.19.

Action of the wheat market showed the effect of the weak speculative situation and liquidation, which carried March wheat down to $1.19, or within 2c of the lowest of the crop, while May, in selling at $1.19, made a new low. A feature was the absorption of offerings on the break by houses with seaboard connections. The bulk of the May being carried at interest and for the seaboard against old export sales. The trade started to cover at the last, sending prices up sharply and making a close around the top of the day.

Selling orders for March wheat were well distributed among the commission houses, and were distributed to local interests that sold March openly and bought May at 1/4c difference. At the last the trade was said to be well evened up.

May corn was down to 44c, within 1/4c of the season's low. It showed a drop of nearly 2c from the early high. The rally at the last was due to profit taking on short sales. It was a big market, with liquidation and pressure, and nothing to buy on except the low prices.

Oats Market Is Weak.

Oats were weak, with weather and crop reports bearish. Seeding is well along, and the crop is doing well, with indications of a liberal acreage being put in. Profit taking was the main support at the last, after the liquidators and shorts had finished the bulk of their selling. Provisions were sold by shorts and liquidators, and bought by the Armour interests. Prices declined sharply, but rallied later with reduced selling pressure, and closed at intermediate figures. Prices of green hams were 1/4c higher. Prices follow:

THESE fourteen know how it ought to be made—that gown which adds so much to the attractiveness of their sisters. All fourteen are "terribly rushed" just now and they can't make any promises as to when your gown will be finished. They say that gray is very popular and that black is coming into style, that sleeves will be longer and that there will be no sleeves in evening gowns. The length of skirts—ask them, ask them. What they don't know about what is chic and what is going to be chic months hence is not worth knowing. They don't know who will be the winners in the beauty contest, though. No one knows. Ten thousand dollars will be awarded to the most beautiful girl when she is found. In addition ten prizes will be distributed in each of the six territorial divisions—the city of Chicago, the state of Illinois outside of Chicago, the state of Indiana, the state of Iowa, the state of Wisconsin, and the state of Michigan. The first prize in each of these divisions will be $1,000, the second $250, the third $100, and the remaining seven $50 each. The contest is open to every girl, unmarried or a widow, who resides anywhere in the five states, except professional beauties. Select a photograph of yourself or some girl friend and write plainly on the back of it the name, street address, and occupation of the entrant. Send the photograph to "Beauty Contest," CHICAGO TRIBUNE, 7 South Dearborn street, Chicago. The contest closes on April 9.

SLEEPLESS: "FEW HANDS" ascendancy over the will more than drug dependence for says Dr. R. A. Carroll. "There is drug sufficiently powerful to sleep upon sleeplessness which is more or less definitely a poison to the central nervous system." And he commends the cup of hot water or the ten minute bath in warm water. The five minute warm footbath, a spoonful of tincture of ammonia, hot water as beneficial helps when trouble is not severe.

H. J. WHAT IS MEANT BY stationary running? It means the movements employed in the forward. Throw the knees up so as to bring the abdominal and important muscles into action. You can run for miles in water with this movement. But remember doing it but a half minute and you are slowly to three minutes strenuous.

CURIOUS: THERE DOES seem to be any startlingly new style in dress just now. Everybody seems to be wearing here to suit her own particular face, which is about the style one can arrive at during the vogue. About bobbing it, that's as serious a business as choosing a mate. You have to live with it a long time once the step has been taken, and you have to be pretty sure of yourself.

E. G.: IT IS NOT A MATTER of pounds. Fat people are often extremely light on their feet and little people come down with a thump that wallops the baby downstairs. Practice lifting the body up and walking quickly on the balls of the feet, with as little weight on your heels as possible.

PEG: THE BEST THING to fight blackheads with is soap and water. You rarely see a person who takes a warm bath every night and a cold one every morning suffering from the terrible things. It is not only cleanliness of the face, but of the whole body that has to be attended to.

Wages Will F
Hour Day to S

BY ARTHUR SEARS H

Washington, D. C., March 23.—With the administration general wage reductions in the readjustment of industrial price levels, peace, for the months at least, was reestablished in the packing industry. The negotiations between the stockyard workers and the Secretary of Labor Davis, in a compromise agreement, the attorneys representing the Chicago packers and the meat cutters and affiliated house unions, which provides for wage reductions put into effect the packers last week.

1. That the packers agree to restoration of the basic eight hour day and overtime rates.

2. That the packers agree to continuation until Sept. 15, the arbitration system of disputes between them and employees.

3. That the packers agree to a permanent peace or only a truce will depend on the extent further readjustment of working conditions the packers may under the expiration of the arbitration.

The packers intend to put their plan for the participation of employees in the management industry. The union leaders feel of the possible result settlement and pronounce a truce.

To Have Widespread Effect While the administration stood to be committed to restoration of the basic eight hour day in all industry, its wage reductions are in effect prices fall probably will have a far-reaching effect upon the process of adjustment. This is the issue now between the railroads and their employees.

The American Federation has taken a stand against wage cuts.

The packing house settlement effected in conferences today related Davis by both parties controversy.

Asks Pointed Questions When the terms of the agreement were laid before the opposing signatories, the packers' representatives wanted to parley further.

"Oh, what the hell's the arguing," exclaimed Secretary Davis, pointing to the line.

The signatures of the packers' attorneys, James L. Condon and Meyer, were promptly attached to the agreement was completed. Secretary Davis immediately telegraphed the news to the White House. He was keenly elated at the full outcome of his first effort as labor mediator.

Calls Compact Truce On "We have signed a truce for war," Redmond S. Brennan for the packers' employees after the agreement had been pronounced.

"We entered this agreement I felt it was necessary to avoid. The position of the workers so fair and so reasonable a strike had resulted the further a new kind of leadership strike would have been a more intelligent and more violent any ever seen before in this industry."

"I, therefore, regarded it of great importance that it be averted."

Fears Later Strife.

If the packers after Sept. 15, the Alschuler agreement, play the same hostility toward their employees, industrial strife is inevitable.
